

Brookings Ladies Visit Smith River Club Fashion Show

SMITH RIVER—Many visitors from Brookings including members of the Azalea Garden Club attended the Fall fashion show and tea sponsored by Smith River Women's club on Friday, Sept. 18, at the Smith River Community Hall.

Contributing much to the success of the occasion was the fashion show music and between-modeling numbers played by Mrs. Ross Putnam at the Hammond organ, brought to the hall from the home of Mrs. Arthur Lawn, president.

Mrs. Vance Bolick, tea chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Lawn in the buffet tea following the affair. Pouring at the lace covered table centered by double orange nasturtiums were Mrs. Thomas McKenna of Pelican Bay and Mrs. Henry Westbrook, Sr.

Modeling the advance fashions for autumn were Mrs. Taylor Westbrook, Mrs. James Hight, Mrs. R. Rudisill, Mrs. William Buckner, Miss Barbara Buckner, Mrs. John Bowie, and Mrs. Paul Maris, all members of the Smith River club. Four children models wore advance fashions for the younger set, two from the preschool group, Debbie Westbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Westbrook and Jay Hight, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hight are veterans, having weathered both the 1953 spring and fall fashion shows at Smith River.

Little Michele Browne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Browne, and Johanna Eagles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eagles modeled the grade school fashions smart juniors will wear for fall.

Mrs. George Shipley, chairman of stage decorations, with her committee used dahlias from the gardens of Mrs. Burton Tyler at Stateline Motel with tropical birds from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. J. Shapiro of Alder road. A sectional screen painted by Mrs.

John Ostrum provided a beautiful woodland scene for a back-drop.

Mrs. W. R. Faris was general chairman for the affair. In charge of the loud speaker system was Mrs. Gordon Wells with commentator Mrs. Carol Stanbrough from Daly Bros. All models shown were from Daly Bros., Crescent City.

Skipper Arnett Got Substantial Salmon

Fishing has improved mightily, the last few days. . . although no one's saying that it couldn't be better. But they're in the river, and some of them are coming out.

Happiest fisherman locally was ten year old Skipper Arnett, who landed a 23-pound salmon last week at the mouth of the Chetco. The fish is just about the same size as Skipper, and Skipper's grin is bigger than both of them.

Largest fish caught locally and reported to date is the 40-pounder pulled in by Doc White. Perry Jones brought in a 20-pounder, and a party with Roy Ballard brought in three.

Most encouraging thing about the run, according to John Hewitt, is the fact that they're coming farther in the river than they have previously.

Trout fishing is holding up fairly well, although most of the interest is swinging toward salmon as the fall run gets closer.

Reports from the Winchuck and Smith say that fishing has been spotty there, with a couple of good days, and a couple of bad ones.
