By MAX BRAINARD

Arthur Benson, son of Mrs. Charles Bickner, writes he is all set up in the chiropractic business in St. Petersburg, Fla. His address is 17715 Gulf Blvd.

Portland papers carried the death notice of Mrs. Wendla C. Sund, 80, late in September, at Hoquiam, Wash. Among her survivors are her husband, to whom she had been married 61 years, and children, among whom are daughter, Mrs. Claude Bollman, and sons Edwin and Melvin, all of Brookings.

Tuesday, Don Cameron, civil engineer of the Siskiyou National Forest, set a bulldozer and a gang of men to clearing the site, at Alder and Redwood streets, for the new forest service office building.

At present, several timber outfits are cleaning up their operations, burning the slash to keep down the fire hazard.

Roy Weideman rounded up a crew to pour the slab of the new library building, Tuesday morning, but for some reason the mix was delayed, which is too bad as it takes time to round up an efficient gang. Ben Jones had previously set in a conduit that will be cast in the slab.

ARRIVE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Goldizen returned last Wednesday from the Bay area where Mr. Goldizen met his wife to drive home with her. Mrs. Goldizen and her sister, Mrs. Powell, had visited their parents in Iowa.

Fishing Better In The Chetco

The Chetco river fishing had to take a back seat to hunting last week as Brookings and Harbor residents headed for the hills and the deer that allegedly live there.

And that was bad, because fishing was better last week. . . perhaps because the hunting season thinned out the number of fishermen. At least 40 fish cleared through Parker's anchorage Sunday, and they still were biting.

Harold Young took a 32 pounder out of the river Sunday, and A. E. Griffin had a 44 pounder. A 49 pounder was reported by a Mr. Groom from Los Angeles, and Pauline Beam had a 46 1/4 pound Chinook.

MASONS TO MEET

All members of the Masonic fraternity are invited to attend the next meeting, Friday evening, Oct. 9, to hear the second address of an educational series. Erskine Miller will be the speaker and he has done a great deal of reading to sift out what should be a very interesting program. The third in the progressive series will be on November 13, with Clive Manley the speaker, and each successive second Friday until the series is completed, a different topic and a different speaker each night.
