Sidelights of Brookings Hi

The girls dyed tresses—Lloyd's broken foot—viewing the proofs of senior class pictures—the many students taking tests for drivers license—the same ones always tardy—Jack Bravo telling the 4H achievement speaker the use of mat hooks—students trying to avoid paying .10 movie admission by hiding backstage—the suspense prior to receiving 9 weeks report cards—the annual staff searching for baby pictures of student body—biology students trying to understand what an atom is—Home Ec girls struggling to make their skirts fit—some students always coming to class without books or pencils—Freshies taking aptitude tests—over heard on school bus: "Let's do something exciting tomorrow. Let's walk to town."

Lucky 7 Meets

A special meeting of the Lucky Seven Club was held Monday, Nov. 9, during the fifth period of school. Four men from the "Oregon Journal" were here to talk about not only the past activities of the club, but also their future plans.

The boys talked mostly about a proposed project which the Lucky Seven is to sponsor. The Lucky Seven fellows also hope to have their own clubhouse in the near future. The club has really expanded since its start a few months ago.

One of the four men present was Marshal Dana who was the speaker for the 1953 Commencement exercises.

Frosh Study Papers

The Freshmen English classes spent one week learning a few of the characteristics of a newspaper. They studied about the difference between a tabloid and a standard size paper. The Freshmen then spent several days preparing typical news stories and selecting the ones to be used in the Brookings-Harbor Pilot.

Grammar Contest Ends

The four week Fresman grammar contest has finally ended and are the "kids" relieved. They found refraining from slang and watching everything they said quite difficult.

The winning teams were Ronald Olsen's first period and Lee Wayne's sixth. The losing teams treated the winners to Dixie Cups.

Frosh Home Ec

During the last nine weeks the girls of the Home Ec. classes have made miniature houses and luncheon sets.

They made their own furniture, curtains, bedspreads and tablecloths. The idea was to learn the color schemes of a home.

They made placemats and napkins of different colors and of Indian Head materials. The luncheon sets consisted of six napkins and six placemats, each having three-fourths inch of fringe. Each student had to originate a design containing two of the basic embroidery stitches.

Their present project is making skirts of different kinds of material. Some of the kinds of material the girls are using are orlon, wool, cotton striped and cotton print. When the girls have finished them they hope to have time to make blouses and dresses before they start cooking.

Advertising in the Brookings-Harbor Pilot brings results.

Pictures Shown

Friday Noon

Each Friday at 12:15 the high school student body has an opportunity to see a picture. The movies are shown in the gym and the admission is 10c per person.

So far the students have seen "The Good Earth," "The DuPont Story," "Kidnapped," "Jane Eyre" and "The Big Idea." The pictures have been very good and most of the students have taken advantage of them.

The operators of the projector are Dave Hovey and Bob Wright. Mr. Girod helps them and Mrs. Clayton collects the money.

GIRLS EXERCISE

Brookings High need not be alarmed by groans coming from the direction of the gymnasium during fourth period on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. They're just coming from the freshman girls making attempts to tumble. Despite all the squeals and groans the girls are doing quite well. They have succeeded in turning somersaults and building some quite difficult pyramids. They enjoy every minute of it.

Concerts Planned By Music Students

The music department has been quite busy. The girls chorus sang for 4-H Achievement Night and is to sing for the December PTA meeting.

The chorus is now working on some new songs including "Green-sleeves," "It Ain't Necessarily So," and "Hello Young Lovers."

The band is composed of 21 members. Some of the numbers they are working on now are Beethoven's "Military March," "Black Jack," "American Patrol," and "Larghetto."

The band is planning a program for Christmas.
