WE NEVER PLAN for it; in fact, we have no idea when it occur, but we do know that just as sure as things will be mislaid, so will this even take place at least once during any year.

I refer to that day during which some younger member of the family making a house-over search for some lost article, comes across a box, or a large envelope, or a sack full of snapshots which bring the past into focus quicker than Alley Oop's time machine.

Like long-time searches before whom treasure is suddenly bared, so do these modern pirates scream and screech with surprise and astonishment as pictorial records of another day come back to haunt.

"Mama, is that really you?" and "Daddy, you had hair then!" are two of the expressions to be expected and cherished from offspring who can never be convinced that parents weren't hatched in their present decrepit shapes.

Still the pleasure afforded the youngsters is mild to that which comes to him who takes a major role in many of the pictures. Although not so openly expressed, the pride of the master of the mansion cannot be easily disguised as he recognizes his youthful facsimile with its arm around the present lady of the house.

Neither does he need to have pointed out the luxuriant crop of hair which then covered what is now a high forehead. He could even point out that those same locks even had a wave or two. And gazing upon the heroine of most of the scenes, can he be blamed as he inwardly exults.

Former Harbor
Teacher Wed
At Allegany

Word has come from Allegany, Oregon, of the marriage there of Mrs. Lou Ewan and Leon Kendrick.

Mrs. Ewan lived in Harbor for several years, and at one time taught school there. She is well known in this area.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walter Warner, pastor of the Coos Bay Methodist church at 6 o'clock before a simulated altar decorated by white chrysanthemums and white tapers.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Emmett Nordlund, wore a black velvet afternoon frock, embroidered at the neckline with rhinestones and sequins, her accessories were of matching velvet and her corsage was of gardenias. Mrs. Ewan is the daughter of Mrs. Emily Nordlund of Astoria.

Mrs. Harold Ott was the matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Bonnie Lane of Portland, daughter of the bride, Miss Donna Ewan and Mrs. Jessie Bishop of Spokane, sister of the bridegroom.

Candlelighters were Millie Hodgins and Nancy Ott.

Stanley Newberry was the best man and ushers were Elvin Ewan, son of the bride, and Warren Huppi.

Mrs. Chester Isaacson, vocal soloist, sang "Oh, Promise Me" preceding the ceremony. She was accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Bremer.

A wedding supper was served after the service and Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick went up the coast for a honeymoon trip. They will reside in Allegany where the bridegroom is employed by the Weyerhaeuser Timber company.
