NAME CHANGED ON VARIETY STORE

The new proprietors of Young's Variety Store took over this week, and Young's Variety is now Palmer's Variety.

The new operators are Merwyn Palmer and his wife, assisted by two year old Marty. The Palmers formerly lived in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer are well-experienced in their field. Mr. Palmer served five years with F. W. Woolworth, five years with Montgomery Ward, three years with Metropolitan Stores, and a year as Manager of Alexander's Springfield, before coming here.

The Palmer's plan to increase the stock of the store, adding several new lines to the present stock.

them sound so inhospitable. So the next sign that you read that says CHU DREN, KEEP OFF... you'll know why.

Along with everyone else, we were pondering the election laws of the State of Oregon, which grind exceedingly fine in spots. More specifically, we were pondering Luther Tisdale, who has resigned his State position because he is a candidate for public office.

The thing that puzzles me is why it is not necessary for some of our other public officials to so resign when they are rerunning. Earl T. Newbry, for instance, is running for Governor this year... in fact, he's been working on it for some time. And I'm sure Earl Newbry works for the State of Oregon... I saw his name on an envelope once.

I guess I'm just a little naive about this... I know the law differentiates between elected officials and appointed ones. I just can't find out why.

But, as Luther said recently, it has its consolations. No one can say he sought the office of County Judge because he needed a job... he had one then. And something tells me you can't say that about all the candidates.

WHITES RETURN FROM PORTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Bert White returned to Brookings Sunday, after being absent for several days, to attend the funeral of Will A. Delzell in Portland.

Mr. Delzell was Mr. White's uncle. He was long active in Democratic politics in this state, serving as Secretary to Independent Governor Julius Meier, and on the staff of Governor Pierce.

The Whites plan to return to Portland soon, where they will make their home with Mrs. Delzell.
