

HARBOR NEWS

Vic Reynolds has scored again in the May issue of the Sunset magazine, having been selected as one of the panel of fourteen men consulted on the proper preparing and cooking of trout. While no names are given in the article, on page 165, a paragraph by Vic is included in the article. His contribution was instructions how to prepare trout with a smoked flavor by painting the split fish with liquid smoke and oil before broiling or frying them. Vic has had four of his recipes printed in "Chefs of the West" part of the Sunset, these being recipes sent in by the men readers. For his recipes printed, he has received a chefs apron and hat and a copy of the cook book "Chefs of the West." For his appearing in this issue of the magazine, he is to receive a copy of the "Sunset Book of Cooking Fish." After reading the article in Sunset, the only thing left out is telling how to be sure to get your trout first.

Homemakers To Hear Educator

Mrs. Mabel W. Winston, registrar of Southern Oregon college of Education, will be talking on woman's triple role at the Seventh Annual Homemaker's Festival to be held in Curry County May 7 at the Ophir Grange Hall.

Using a quotation from Shakespeare as her theme, "All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players" she will discuss the many parts that a woman plays in her time.

Mrs. Winston has filled many roles herself. She received her bachelor's and master's degree from Oregon State college and was on the staff there for 17 years in the dean of women's office.

In 1946 she went to Southern Oregon College of Education as Calexico, and spent ten days in San Felipe, Mexico. They then followed the borderline to Atlanta, where they visited Mrs. Clement's sister, Mrs. Louise (Baumgartner) Looke. St. Petersburg, Fort Lauderdale, Key West and other points in Florida took several weeks. Then after visiting Louise again, they returned home the central route, being gone over three months.
