

Work Continues On Ball Field

Work on the new baseball diamond located just beyond the Brookings Plywood plant continued over the past week-end with considerable grading and dragging being done. On hand for the manual labor were Homer Haggerty, Lloyd Harbin, Mack Malcolm, Blain Gribble and several others. Curry County Lumber Company donated the use of their truck for hauling of the drag.

Activity will continue this coming week-end as many rocks must be removed from the field, the back stop erected and the stands moved from the old high school field.

Prospective players for the Brookings Beavers also held a light work-out. Among those turning out were Bob Astin, Jim Barrett, Boyd and Ron Western, Len Reynoldson, Cliff Girod, Bud McCord, John Thiems Lee Goodin and Bob Wilsie. Another practice will be held Sunday afternoon with subsequent work-outs on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of next week. The 1954 edition of the Beavers will play a first practice game against the Merchants at Crescent City on May 9th with another tentative game with the Merchants on the 16th and a game at Grants Pass on May 23rd. The Beavers open league play here on May 30th in a double header against Grants Pass. Any new players in the area are requested to contact Pete Lesmeister, business manager.
