

Scout Building News Report

By MIKE PAGE

Well, last week's plans went kind of haywire. Because of the rain Saturday, no work was done. But there were some improvements made. Several, led by Ben Jones, got the forms in on the front of the foundation, and also the six piers made. Mr. Gribble donated the concrete for that work, and poured the piers and the rest of the foundation.

Also, we had three trucks hauling gravel to finish the fill inside the forms. The city furnished one truck, with Mr. Kanick driving. Mr. Bankus donated the gravel. Mr. Weeks leveled up the front of the property with the city grader, so things look better around the project.

Now we will have to set a new date to start the big construction, when the Union Carpenters can be on hand. But in the meantime there is plenty to do. Check with Mr. Gribble or Mr. Jenkins about building the trusses, also there is lumber to sort out and gravel to level out and a water line and a septic tank to dig.

We still need logs to be delivered at the Brookings Plywood Company, which we are trading for plywood and lumber. Also, we can use some redwood lumber for window and door casings. Mr. Fifield is going to make them up for us.

We still would like to hear from more of the sponsoring institutions. This building is for all scouting, boy scouts, Cub Scouts, Explorers and Girl Scouts. It is a meeting place and a place for scout committees of the sponsoring organizations to meet. According to the building permit, there is to be no dancing. The Fishing activities up the Chetco are becoming quite extensive.

Hardly a day passes that there aren't a number of fishermen on the river, and most reports are pretty favorable. It was pretty good the last I tried, too. Last time I looked, the proprietor was having a tough time keeping his crew in the shop, and not on the river.

John Hewitt, at Hewitt's Anchorage, has reported swell off-shore salmon fishing, when the ocean was smooth enough to get out. Heavy catches have been reported off the coast here, and the fish seem to be in close and staying.

So, all in all, fishing seems to be the most, so you'd better dig out your rod and reel, and go on down and catch your share.

VISITS TWIN

Mr. and Mrs. Astor Lacey and children and Miss Annabelle Hanson of Reedsport were week end visitors of the Paul Peterson family.

Mrs. Lacey and Mrs. Peterson are twins, and Miss Hanson is their sister.

IN EUREKA

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown spent Monday in Eureka on a business trip.

original idea, for which the land was donated by Mr. King, was and is for a meeting place for all scouts.

Progress is being made, and we eventually will get there, though slowly. But we need a lot more help. This is a community project, and no personal feeling should interfere.

If more money were available, we would hire the work done, but we simply haven't got it.
