

12 Brookings-Harbor Pilot
THURSDAY, JULY 22, 1954

(From Page 1)

More music was supplied by the Grants Pass Eagles Junior Drum and Bugle Corps. The youngsters added a splash of color to the parade, as they exhibited some precision drilling in addition to their excellent music.

George Funk won top honors in Individual floats with his basket of lilies (and kids) which bore the names of the states to which he ships. And Brookings Feed and Seed took top honors in the Commercial division, with a lily covered house, with a front yard planted with all sorts of flowers and shrubs.

Brookings Plywood won Industrial honors with a replica of their local mill, with smoke pouring out the chimney. And Darnell logging supplied two loads of lily garlanded logs to represent the logging industry.

Comic honors were taken by David Ostenburg, as an uncouth orphan. And David also won the bicycle awarded to an entry in the juvenile division.

Pam Kerr and two escorts, Susan Cole and Chuck Kerr took juvenile honors with a beautifully trimmed bicycle.

Presbyterians To Break Ground For New Church

Brookings Presbyterians will break ground Sunday at 12:15 P. M. for their new $75,000 church plant, to be constructed at the corner of Pacific and Fir Streets.

Representatives of other churches will join in the ceremony which will see the dedication of the new church. All Brookings people are invited to the ceremony.

Rev. Hugh Bronson, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, will officiate at the service, which is under the direction of J. Elbert Nash, Representative of the board of National Missions.

Following the ground breaking ceremony, visitors will be invited to a coffee hour in the VFW Hall.

LEGION SENDS TWO TO CONVENTION

Commander Lew Morgan and Bill Hamann of Chetco 138, American Legion, Left Tuesday for the state Legion Convention in Coos Bay.

The two took with them the flag of lilies which comprised the Legion float in the Lily parade. It will be displayed in the window of a Coos Bay Department store.

Also taken was a box of lily blossoms, which will be distributed to Coos Bay residents during the conclave.
