Harbor News

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Banick are enjoying a visit from their son, Clifford, who came from the East Coast, where he is stationed by the Navy, to be home for Christmas.

Another Navy man, Michael O'Neill will leave this week for Treasure Island for future assignment, following a fourteen day visit home with his mother, Mrs. Colleen Fitzhugh. Mike has just completed his boot training at San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson and children returned home the first of the week from Corvallis where they spent Christmas with Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. Caroline Putnam, her sister, Mrs. Bessie Perkins, and Mr. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edon Thompson, and other relatives.

The children were thrilled by there being four or five inches of snow while they were there. Mrs. Thompson's brother, Zerl Putnam, who also spent the holidays in Corvallis, will return to Harbor later this week.

Mrs. Ruth Bathiany spent Christmas in Tulelake at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Crawford. When she returned home Sunday, the Crawford family returned with her for a couple of weeks fishing and visiting.

Bob Chambers left last week for Portland where he was to meet his wife who had been in Logan, Iowa, with her mother for over a month. They enjoyed Christmas at the home of their son, Dean and his family.

Al Clement left last week for Medford where he plans to make his future home as he sold his place north of Brookings.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoffeld had as dinner guests Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Arp of Brookings.

Several of the Hanscom small fry celebrated Christmas by having the Chicken Pox. Fortunately this disease is of short duration usually.

Mrs. Curt Waldien left recently for southern California to visit her children and their families over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ruls left Thursday for Sonoma, California to spend Christmas at the home of their son, Bill, Jr., and his family.

If anyone wants to know how the swimming in the Chetco is at this time of the year, they can ask Swade Gardner, Don Merritt or Ray Reekman who swamped a boat above the DeMartin hole while searching for fishing equipment lost by some fishermen a few days before when their boat turned over. According to reports, there were three children in the boat as well as an old person, and besides a good dunking, and losing their fishing equipment, they were none the worse for the experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grigsby left for their home in Paradise, California, Monday after enjoying Christmas here at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson.

Mrs. Helen Shumaker of Gold Hill, Oregon, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Miller, Brookings were the dinner guests at the Bud Cross home Christmas day.

Cliff Banick has returned home from the U. S. Navy to spend New Years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Banick.
