

TRAVEL TO EUROPE PLANS AVAILABLE

November 1st through the end of March is the smart time to go to Europe. Roy J. Hansen, Manager of the Eureka Travel Agency, reports that the big Fall-Winter Family Travel savings will apply to all Trans-Atlantic Air-Travel, both DeLuxe and the Tourist services. etuaA: savings amount to as much as $300 on the roundtrip tickets for wives who accompany their husbands. Children, too, travel at greatly reduced rates. There is no charge in the quality of service or accommodation. Besides the substantial savings, there are other attractions for the Fall-Winter vacationist. This is the time of the big Continental Social Season, and the whirl of events and activities that year after year draw experienced travelers back to Europe. The crowds of summer tourists are gone, and in their place is a truly Continental atmosphere remains. Reasonable accommodations are more plentiful and local travel easier. In fact, you can see more, do more and still travel within a modest budget. This year, Family Travel Season savings, combined with the already low Tourist rates, will bring Europe within the reach of many more Winter vacationists.
