HARBOR NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Skipworth of Aberdeen arrived last Monday to visit at the home of red daughter, Mrs. M. M. Jaklewicz and to become acquainted with her row great-grandson, Daniel Mark, recently born to Mr. and Mrs. C. Blagden. She had just been visiting in San Diego with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Garrity Jr. and became acquainted with a grandson, Edward Garrity III, who was born on September 27th. Mrs. Garrity will be remembered here as Mrs. Jaklewicz's sister, Miss Allison Skipworth who visited here every summer for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Miller enjoyed a three day visit from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robison of Medford, who left for their home on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Specht returned to Ashland Monday, after spending the weekend at the home of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Foster.

The rain Tuesday stopped the field work temporarily, and the bulb growers will be on pins and needles now until the last of the lilies are in the ground.

The wedding reception planned for Mr. and Mrs. Junior Shrader last week was postponed due to the power shut off last Saturday night, and it is planned to hold it this Friday evening, October 28th at the Grange Hall.

PEARMINE'S NIECE MARRIED IN SALEM

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pearmine have received word of the marriage of their niece, Miss Jane Pearmine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pearmine of Salem, to Warren McMurray, of Savannah, Georgia, at the First Congregational Church in Salem on October 21st. The marriage is of interest to local people as Jane and her brother Lester have been frequent visitors in Harbor and in about 1935 fishes for anchovies in the Chetco River with the Hanscam boys and other local young folks.

Mrs. McMurray has been teaching in India where she met her husband, having been chosen from Oregon State College to go to India to teach there for several years. Mr. McMurray is with the Diplomatic Corps of the State Department and is in charge of the regional areas of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland and Iceland, and their first home will be in Stockholm, Sweden for two years.

While they were both in India they took part in a big game hunt during which Mr. McMurray shot a tiger which was one of the largest killed there for several years. Other animals killed during the hunt were wild boars, bears, a blue bull, cheital stag and barking deer.

40 WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY WEIGELS

Bob, and a Bud and a Bill. A fine bunch of bowlers—of course they have their nights off too.

— pipe dreams —

Actually, if you are a meat hunter, there is not much point in getting all worked up, and spending all that effort in order to get a deer. It is better to sit around and look hungry like old Joe—and with my 130 pounds, it is easy to look hungry. Bob Peterson and his wife brought us up a hunk of venison, and now Gunnar Hedberg said that he, his wife, and his son, all managed to get a buck near Bend, and that he will drive at least one of the animals up to the house.

— pipe dreams —

Two big days next week in Brookings On Thursday, the new high school building will be open for inspection, and the dedication ceremony will be held. I hope everyone in town can make the open house, if only for the free coffee. After all, you people are paying for the building, and it behooves you to see what your cash is going for.

— pipe dreams —

On Friday, the Brookings Plywood is planning an open house too, in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the Plywood Industry. Here is another chance to look over something of major importance to the community. I don't know if they are planning on free coffee or not as yet, but I am sure they will let you pull on the green chain if you want.

— pipe dreams —

I am sure glad I'm from Oregon. At least they win a football game now and then. Not that I'm disowning Wisconsin for losing a game or two, but the razzing can now end, as I am officially claiming that I'm an Oregon resident.
