

HARBOR NEWS

Maybe the caterpillar is right and we are going to have a hard winter during the first part of it. Old timers swear by the caterpillar, the little amber and black ones that are so numerous in the fall months. They claim that the winter is foretold by the way the black parts on the caterpillar are worn each year. This year, for instance, the black portion is longer on the front part than it is on tail end, which means that the first part of the winter is going to be the hardest, and will last longer than the bad weather next spring. One old-timer has never forgiven [another old-timer who searched until he found a freak albino caterpillar, tan all over, and brought it to him so he could foretell the winter. Even the new comers know that that caterpillar was crazy, as we will get some winter sooner or later.

The theme for the Harvest Rally of the Baptist Youth Fellowship of the Rogue River Association, held in the First Baptist Church at Grants Pass, on November 11th, was "Bringing In The Sheaves." There were 86 young people participating in the pre-Thanksgiving banquet of turkey and all the trimmings. The young people took part in the program after which an appropriate picture was shown.

Those attending from the Baptist Community Church here, and returning home the next day were Joy Gott, Nancy Cummings, Joanne Renhard, Alice Phillips, Jane Lewis, Carol Rausch, Margie Darger, Virginia Bishop, Judy Sadler, Ralph Ingle, Mrs. Sadler and Joy Sadler. Rev. Sadler, is their advisor. He and Fell Campbell provided the transportation.

Mrs. Alice Beam, and daughter, Jeanne, now living at Kerby, have been spending a few days here.

Mrs. Lloyd Weeks returned, this past week to her home in Brookings after spending 10 days with her sister, Mrs. Myrtle Boyd, at Pullman, Washington.

Popularity of the contest being staged by the Chetco Rexall Drug is indicated by 146 youngsters having registered in the first two days. Registrations are being held open, the management says, so the out-of-town children can get their names on the list.
