From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

She Knew It All The Time

Chances are, long ago your grandma knew how to keep you from catching cold. Mine did. "Stay out of drafts," she'd warn. "Bundle up. Don't get wet."

Then, maybe, when you grew up you found that the old lady's theories were considered old fashioned. Germs were the thing — and the way to avoid a cold was to avoid infection by somebody who already had one.

Now I read where scientists aren't so sure. Germs carry a cold, of course, but they now believe something else "sets it off" — something like drafts, wet feet or going without your muffler. Grandma, take a bow! From where I sit, there's liable to be sound reasoning behind the old customs people believe in. "Early to bed, early to rise," for instance — or the practice of drinking hot milk or a glass of beer at bedtime. I'm not saying you ought to hold with these beliefs yourself... but you'd better get the facts before giving them the "chill."

The quartet includes classics, sacred songs, and spirituals, ballads, folk songs, medleys and modern tunes.

HARBOR NEWS

Mrs. Carl Bolin left for College Place, Washington last Thursday to care for her new grandson, Mark, who was born to her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robison, former well known local residents.

There was a foot of snow on Wilson Prairie Sunday and about fourteen inches of the white stuff at Carpenterville, but most of it was washed off by a warm rain on Monday. It seems that our March weather is coming a little early this year, with the wind, rain, wind, hail, wind and thunder and lightning, and wind the first part of the week. Those daffodil pickers just about froze solid during the storm as the blooms must be picked when ready, storm or no storm.

Olaf Pearson is in the Seaside Hospital where he is receiving medical treatment. He has been ill since he had a stroke before Christmas.

Mrs. Ole Lingren returned home Monday after being at the home of her son, Lawrence Ellis in Troutdale, taking care of her new grandson which was born while she was there. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hiland of Dunsuir have been the houseguests at the home of Mr. Hiland's sister, Mrs. Joe Zumpfe, having come here last weekend to attend the funeral of their father, Mr. George Hiland. Other out of town relatives at the Zumpfe home, also here for the funeral, were Mr. Zumpfe's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Petrick of Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Curt Waldien left recently to visit at the homes of her children in Southern California for a few weeks.

Dale Bravo was able to return home the first of the week from the Seaside Hospital, where he underwent medical treatment for several days.

William McVay returned home the first of the week after being in the Gold Beach Hospital for medical treatment for over a week.

D. F. Masset, who spent several days in the Seaside Hospital at Crescent City with pneumonia is now convalescing at his home near the state line.
