Picture of innocence... Ship'n Shore's baby-sleeved broadcloth blouse with wily two-way collar. (Open it to look less angel, more woman!) Lustrous combed cotton... pure pleasure to wash... in white, tender pastels, tempting brights. Sizes 28 to 40. More, more, more Ship'n Shores... patterns too!

By JOE MURPHY

We spent 10 full minutes today trying to get Tony Christensen to let us have a quote regarding his 396 series last Friday night, and find that we can't print it. After all, a 396 is not to be sneezed at, considering how slick the alleys were, and with new pins and all.

— Pipe Dreams —
We missed the Crab Feed, Saturday night, to attend the going away party for Gyle Jensen and his family, who are all packing up and leaving our fair city for Eureka. We had a chance to engage in a fast game of ping-pong with Elder Gray of the Church of Latter Day Saints. I won.

— Pipe Dreams —
Now there is my sport. I hereby claim the Brookings-Harbor Ping-Pong Championship, and will accept all challengers including high school athletes who are in their prime. While I was a pretty fair pool shark in my youth, my real forte was ping-pong.

The political campaigns are beginning to get underway in earnest, even though we've already had a few months of very gentle mud-slinging. Mr. Bollinger, of the GOP, was down

Saturday to give Gov. Elmo Smith a plug or two. We don't have much to argue about with the present governor, seeing he is "one of the boys" in the weekly newspaper business. However, if he can see that Highway 101 is renovated between here and Gold Beach, he really will gain our undying support.

— Pipe Dreams —
The Beta's had a small whinging Sunday night, and Nadine floated around taking pictures of various events, which we intended to publish. Unfortunately, the pictures were a little fuzzy.

The Junior Class Crab Feed, held April 7th at the Grange Hall, was a huge success due to unlimited cooperation from members of the Junior Class. Many students worked hard on publicity, cracking crab, serving and cleaning up afterwards.

The Juniors wish to express their sincere thanks to Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Hedberg, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Hamnes and Mrs. Kanick for their assistance. They would also like to thank Mr. Smith for hauling away the crab shells.

With an estimated 400 people attending, $570 was taken in. However, it is not certain yet how much of this is clear. The profits from the Crab Feed will help finance the Prom.

Mrs. C. A. Smith, Jerry and Mary Gail drove to Ashland, Friday. Returning, they brought with them, Mrs. R. E. Detrick, Mrs. Smith's mother, whose stay here in Brookings is in definite.

The Hugo Mackeys were surprised with a house-warming, after the fashion show recently. Among the guests were: The Tom Dents, Cecil Smiths, Tony Leeds, David McDonnells, Don Vaughns, Roy Fromms, Harley Mitts, Bill Houvillas and the Hank Houvillas.

A pair of beautiful table lamps were given to the Mackeys. They wish to thank all their thoughtful friends who made it such a joyous evening.

BATTLE OF THE BOARDS

The furor stirred up by a Washington directive that boards used in home construction were too thin by a 32nd of an inch, stirred up a lot of dust throughout the nation, and in particular, in this lumbering area. In Brookings, alone, with possibly a million dollar value of controversial material on their books, making the ruling stick would have been a calamity. According to the latest reports, construction with the thinner material—three quarter inch thick—remains acceptable and architecturally as strong as if it was the recommended one thirty-second inch thicker.

MORE ELECTRIC EYES

Forty-three radar sets have been licensed by the Federal Government to keep an "electronic eye" on speeders in the state of Oregon, according to the Oregon State Motor Association. This is an increase of 27 installations within the year. In Oregon the sets have been licensed in Oregon City, Portland, Salem, Eugene and The Dalles.

REGISTER BEFORE APRIL 17 to vote in the MAY 18 primaries.
