

PET PARADE PLANS MADE

The Pet Parade for the Azalea Festival, set for Saturday morning June 10, is now awaiting applicants. All those youngsters who wish to participate are asked to register at Mincers Jewelry. Any type of pet will be allowed in the parade, and prizes will be awarded to those having the most unusual pet, the prettiest pet, and the smallest pet. A grand prize will also be awarded. Leonard Harvey is in charge of the parade.

ARLINE SANDERS ENGAGED
Announcements are out of the engagement of Miss Arline Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Sanders, to Donald Francis Hillewe. The wedding is to take place June 2nd in St. Matthews Catholic Church, Hillsboro, Oregon and will be followed by a reception in the school cafeteria.

JOINS INCISION CLUB
Mike, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeBlock, Jr. is the latest member of the incision club having underwent an appendectomy. Dr. Brown figured he was ripe for.

Heard of a Michigan angler who tramped miles to his pet trout lake and came home with a walloping big snapping turtle, which is tolerable eating, too.

Tom McKenzie reports that the Soap Box entries from this area have been picked. To decide what ten boys would be chosen to represent Brookings at Grants Pass, an essay contest was held and the top ten boys were picked on the basis of who did the best writing. Now the lads will start building their racers. The town will look like the Indianapolis speedway before long.

It looks like the event should be well received here and I hope next year's race will enable more youngsters to take part. This year the fact was this area was allowed only ten sets of official wheels regulated the number to build their racers. Tom believes we can have an unlimited number. Good, that will make it easier for us guys that can't write.

I thought for a minute that the helicopter seen flying around the shore line was carrying the demo presidential hopefuls on their tour through Oregon. But, I was wrong. This particular airborne rig was reported to have something to do with Port Chicago only.

There is always a joker in the crowd. But the biggest and the best come from Texas, naturally. It seems some Texan with a perverted sense of humor threw a rock through a fellow Texans window with a note attached which read, "Your window is Broken."

Awards are usually given in the month of May. Brookings has one unique person gaining fame in his chosen field of life. Ferdie Stienmetz has been chosen the "Leading Rural Mail Carrier for the Brookings Area."

L. DON'T FORGET G-P L.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jones and daughter, Jana Lee, of Grants Pass were week end visitors in Brookings, visiting with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Al Buchanan. Mr. Jones used to be an electrician for the old C & O Co. here, while Mrs. Jones went to school in Brookings.

Brookings to Have Drivers School

Frank Carpenter, ex-Oregon State Drivers license examiner has moved to Brookings and is opening a drivers school. Mr. Carpenter says that young people just learning to drive should be trained in mental attitude as well as basic rudiments in handling an automobile.

As an army officer, Mr. Carpenter saw service in Korea. He decided that Brookings was the place to live when he first compared our green landscape with the bleak, barren hills of Korea.

Mothers Day Dinner Great Success

The annual Mothers Day dinner cooked and served by the men of Chetco Grange attracted a large crowd Saturday evening to the Grange Hall. A delicious ham dinner was served by the men with Frank Kelley as General chairman and Toastmaster for the evening and Milton Foster the head chef.

Rev. Henry Ostermeier gave a short talk on "Mothers" and H. J. Weigel and Earl Carson sang appropriate songs for the occasion. David Crockett and five of his young students who are taking lessons from the American School of Music played accordion music during the dinner. The young accordionists, who have only been taking lessons about five months, were Kathleen Koeller, Marianne Longacre, Naomi Sanders, Deanna Bivin, and Alice Smith.

Potted plants were presented by the Brookside Azalea and Bulb Farm to the oldest mother present, Mrs. Cal Guerretz; the youngest mother, Mrs. Leonard Harvey, and to the mother with the most children, Mrs. Fred Gardner. The tables were decorated with gorgeous rhododendrons from the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, and a corsage was presented to each woman attending.

The men of the grange are now looking forward to the Father's Day dinner the women of the Grange are planning to serve on June 16th.

Deadline for Membership Near

Proof of the rapid growth of Brookings was seen this week when Community Concert workers found so many new people who remarked: "Oh, yes. We want memberships. We attended concerts in —"; a number of different towns being given.

The annual drive for members draws to a close Saturday morning when Brookings workers join others of the Association in Crescent City at noon to choose the concert artists for the series of four programs.

Those attending will be: Mrs. Roy Brown, Mrs. Fell Campbell, Mrs. L. G. Twoby, and Mrs. C. Ed Dempsey. Contacting any of the above will assure you of seats. No tickets are available after the close of the drive. All available seats have been taken for the past three years, with a waiting list for memberships vacated.

Small Plane Forced To Land on Beach

Last week, during one of the foggy, rainy days, a small aircraft carrying two men, developed engine trouble and was forced to land on the beach near Whaleshead. The men walked up to Dot Martins to get help as the tide was coming in and about to reach their plane.

Tommy Cox and Ray Gardner went down with their jeeps and pulled the plane to safety. The men then went to Brookings where they obtained parts to repair their plane, finally just barely missing the rocks in their take-off.
