

Survey Committee Issues Report on Recreation in Curry County area

CURRY COUNTY ECONOMIC SURVEY

Report of the Tourist and Recreation Committee M.E. Kelly, chairman, Port Orford Jack Feeney, Port Orford F. R. Chamberlain, Gold Beach Martin Powers, Gold Beach James Turner, Gold Beach C. Ed Dempsy, Brookings George Dunning, Brookings Ben Phetteplace, Brookings K. W. Priest, County Extension Agent, Secretary, Gold Beach

The Tourist and Recreation Committee membership consisted of representatives from the Brookings, Gold Beach and Port Orford Chambers of Commerce.

Problems considered by the committee were the Highway Development Program for transportation for both tourist development and timber access and the formation of a county-wide Chamber of Commerce

The committee came to the agreement that both problems could be incorporated into a county Chamber of Commerce with a full-time manager.

The duties of a full-time manager would be, first, the improvement of Highway 101, also the co-ordination of Present Chambers of Commerce activities, participate in the Oregon State Fair and the Pacific International Livestock Exposition through the county booths at both events, compiling a county-wide brochure to promote in-season and off-season attractions, visit other counties and cities Chambers of Commerce for publicity purposes, handle the news releases, radio and television when available, and to be alert to business opportunities and the promotion of these opportunities.

The committee further recommended that a minimum budget of $12,000.00 be set up for the operation of a county Chamber of Commerce. Feeling that the present Chambers of Commerce were unable to finance this project, the committee suggests that the county Budget Committee consider the appropriation of $10,000.00 as authorized under House Bill No. 167. The balance of the proposed budget to be raised through industry contributions.

Fish, Mickey and Gramps

Mickey took Gramp fishing (or maybe it was the other way around) last Sunday. Pop and Mom (A) Phillips being off to the races at Klamath.

First, Mickey took Gramp (or vice versa) up the Chetco, early in the morning where Mickey fished his best and Gramp looked on, but Mickey just got an almost overdose of the proverbial "fisherman's luck".

So, Mickey and Gramp decided not to push their fortune, cruised home and had a sort of a second breakfast, figured they'd lay around, maybe mow the lawn in the afternoon and hit the Winchuck, come evening.

In due course, the laying around got a bit edgy. Lawn mowing, as a Sunday afternoon diversion, didn't look very attractive to the younger of the partners so they set out for the Winchuck valley a bit earlier than they'd planned.

Between them, they figured maybe the best place to fish was where there was the widest gap between road and river and there they parked, sneaked through the tangled brush and vine and hit the creek right where there were some of the most attractive-to-trout shaded holes. Gramp kinda showed Mickey how to float his salmon eggs into 'em and stuff, and Gramp seemed to have just the right dope. Sure enough, the wily fish started snapping at Mickey's offerings, each hole yielding a trout or two, until Mickey had nine darn good, well-over legal sized trout, and one little guy who'd swallowed the hook so far into his innards he just would pollute the stream if thrown back. In the meantime, Gramp showed Mickey all about how to turn loose the little ones, wetting hands before touching them, unhooking them under water and letting 'em return to grow up.

Well, when they got home, those fish had to be kept, just as was, until Pop and Mom could see 'em, be duly photoed and then dressed out to add their weight to the good things set before the assembled Phillips for all to admire and eat, most prominent of which was the hero—Mickey.

Mickey lows as how its pretty nice to have a Gramp who'll take a guy fishing, even fore-going a lawn mowing tithe for the privilege.

LUTHER TISDALES ARE VACATIONING IN WIS.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Tisdale left last Thursday morning for Milwaukee, Wis., where Mr. Tisdale will attend the annual reunion of his old World War I outfit. About 30 of them gathered last year in Southwestern Colorado. Next year's meeting will be on the east coast, the reunions being so rotated.

Brookings Items

Our old 'native' neighbor, Mrs. Gladys Kindell, arrived, Wednesday, for the holidays. She now makes her home, most of the time, in the Puget Sound country. Her son, Floyd, drove down with her.

Mrs. Richard Smith's Beta sisters honored her at a baby shower held on June 28. Mrs. Al Phillips and Mrs. Roy Brown were hostesses at the Merle Hanscam home in Harbor.

Lucius Stafford is getting along nicely at his home in Harbor. He enjoys having his friends and neighbors call and visit.

Al and Margaret Phillips and two sons flew to Astoria for the holiday.

Roy Bowlin and his mama were picked up by Junior Hanscam at Loveland, Colorado, at 10:30, a recent morning and set down at the State Line airport at 6 the same evening. She's going to visit at the Bowlin home up the Winchuck for a spell. Junior was playing back from taking his family to their old Kentucky home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hullen and children, Susan and Bobby are visiting the Dimmick Brothers. Mrs. Hullen is a sister of the Dimmicks. They are from San Bernardino, California.

OLD TIMER

Who remembers Miss Kate Lansberry? Who went to school here in Brookings? Who remembers when she was married, here, by the Rev. King, G. B. Hirschy? Well, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hirschy of Yucaipa, California, dropped into the village as they remembered it 35 years ago, and were looking up some of the folks if any they used to know here. They found a few. Mr. Hirschy was a lumber inspector at the C. & O. Mill and as stated above Miss Lansberry was the school ma'am.

BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY MET THURSDAY

Mrs. Lloyd Weeks was hostess, Thursday, for the Baptist Missionary Society. No meetings will be held during the summer until September 20. Those present included Mrs. Reed, Mrs. O. Kruger, Mrs. M. Corhran, Mrs. W. Sadler, Mrs. M. McDonald, Mrs. C. Goldizen, Mrs. F. Fanger, Mrs. C. Criegler, Mrs. E. Ackley and Mrs. B. E. Kerns.

Mrs. Sadler gave a resume of the American Baptist Church Convention which she and Reverend Sadler attended, recently, at Seattle.

AZALEA GARDEN CLUB PLANS POTLUCK JULY 12

The Azalea Garden club will have a potluck picnic on July 12 at 12:30 p.m. in Azalea Park. Coffee, sugar, cream, butter and rolls will be furnished. All interested women of the community are cordially invited to attend.

CAA Rules for Landing At Stateline Airport

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has stipulated the following rules for landing aircraft at the State Line Airport, according to Al Phillips, of the Chetco Flying Club.

When coming in on a left hand pattern, all planes should head to the North. When coming on the right hand pattern, head toward the South, and when coming in down wind, the plane must approach from over the ocean at all times.

It should be born in mind, at all times, Phillips says, that there is a possibility of brisk air flow down the Winchuck River, regardless of what the windsock at the field may show.

MAE SMITH BACK AFTER VISITING IN THE SOUTH

City Recorder Mae Smith is back on the job much refreshed from a visit to her children in Southern California. Mrs. Smith's son, Peter Sterling Smith, Comdr., U. S. Navy, has been recently assigned as captain of a DD, the U. S. S. Duncan, whose home port is San Diego. Their four year old twin boys and a daughter kept Grandma Smith from biting her nails in boredom as did the family of her daughter, Merie Louise, wife of Master Sgt. Rasberry, U. S. M. C., recently ordered from duty at Camp Pendleton to North Carolina. She also visited a former Kansas City girl whom she hadn't seen in 24 years.
