Shakespearean Plays Attended By Brookings Young People at Ashland

A number of our young people have been to Ashland to see the Shakespearean plays being presented there during the month of August. Kay Nichols, Joyce Washburn and Joan Kuhnena were down Sunday to see "Richard III". They took a little time out before leaving to study the play so they had a good background for it before they saw it performed. It was spectacular they reported and they hope to make it a yearly trip. The girls spent the night in Ashland and returned Monday.

Chuck Hoffman and Doug Hammes attended three plays while they were in Ashland. They saw "Cymbeline," "Love's Labour's Lost" and "Richard III".

Each year Ashland holds its Shakespearean Festival, the streets are decorated with banners all through the month of August proclaiming the festival. For those who have seen the plays it was like a venture into old England. The plays are performed in an open air theatre just like in Shakespeare's time. The acting and costuming is outstanding and the plays are given in such a way that by spending five days in Ashland you can take in all the plays. The other two plays not mentioned but which are being given this year are:

"Romeo and Juliet" and "Titus Andronicus".

BEST BET; TOURIST INFORMATION BUREAU

Demonstration of the value of the local tourist information bureau maintained by the Chamber of Commerce, part time; A couple with two teen age boys said they wanted to cruise the back country and stay out overnight. They were direct toward Vulcan Peak. The mother was seen in a local market two days later and asked how they made out, said she was in for a week's supply of groceries—they loved it!

Two other parties, strangers to each other, with little children, were directed to the Forest Service camp, at Bear Creek, became acquainted there and both dropped in to say they'd been there four days, enjoyed it, and were not only planning to return, next year, but bring some of their friends with them.

north central Colorado, Doyle's old home range. It was the first time he had been back in 37 years. The party had a leisurely tour of Craters of the Moon in eastern Idaho, Yellowstone Park, Estes Park and other places as well as running about the tipped up country where the kin lived. They reported having seen, (or not) a "Jackelope", a species of desert rabbit with forked horns on its noggin.

"Susie" and Lloyd Russel are home from Colorado Springs visiting their parents, the Pete Tierces and the "Mom" and "Pop" Russels. Lloyd is in the army yet.

Mrs. Georgia O. Lewis, seventh grade teacher has returned from a session of summer school. She was accompanied by her husband, Lewis, a highway engineer and are taking a short vacation up the coast.

The many friends of Col. and Mrs. Lee Rice will be pleased to renew contact with them at their new address, 1806 Wood Ave., Apt. 1, Colorado Springs, Colorado.
