Rex Hayes Married In Brookings Ceremony

The many friends of Merlin (Rex) Hayes are congratulating him on his marriage Friday evening, September 28, at 8:30 to Miss Lillian Knoph of Seattle. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Hans Nelson at the apartment of Mr. Hayes in Brookings with a small group of close friends and was witnessed by a group of close friends. Mrs. Mary Braynard and Arthur Longan were the bridal couple's attendants. A wedding supper at the Cliff House complete with champagne was enjoyed by the group after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes are making their home in the Grootendorst Apartments.

Mr. Hayes came to Harbor about five years ago from Wedderburn where he operated a cannery and established the Cedar Lane Cannery on the highway south of Harbor, which has been built up to a flourishing business. Besides canning many of the salmon that sport fishers catch in the Chetco and Smith rivers, gift packages of seafood delicacies are shipped all over the United States.

ELAINE ALSO WORKED

Through an oversight, due to the muddle in winding up one phase of the Walking Blood Bank program, Mrs. Elaine Kerr's name was omitted from the list of those who helped with the clerical work.

VISITS IN CORONADO

Mrs. E. H. Grootendorst left Wednesday by plane to visit her daughter and family at Coronado, California. She expects to be home by the end of the week.

I will back EISENHOWER'S PROGRAM FOR PEACE:::

"The people of Oregon want peace. My election will remove from the Senate the greatest obstructionist to the President's program. I sat with the President in cabinet meetings that helped develop that program. . . I believe in it. . . I believe it will keep the peace. And I will work day and night for it because as a veteran I know what it means to the mothers and fathers of Oregon and to their families."
