Freeman Loses Watch — Roemmich Finds It

When Wilson Freeman went hunting, up on the old Freeman place back of Harbor a year ago, he didn't get his buck and he lost his wrist watch.

When Larry Roemmich went hunting, this past week up on the old Freeman ranch, he didn't get his buck but—you guessed it—he found Wilson's watch!

Wilson placed high sentimental value on the Elgin, a gift from the family and was mighty put when he lost it. Since, he's bought two others and tried to get along with them but deeply dissatisfied.

Noticing something glistening in the brush, while hunting, Larry picked it up—and there was the watch, the hands showing 2:10 and it was now 2:15 p.m. Larry cranked up his find and its ticking right along and apparently in

Speech Clinic Set for Oct. 31

A record forty-five schools in Jackson, Josephine, and Curry counties are now being served by the Cooperative Speech and Hearing Center at Southern Oregon college, it was announced by Leon C. Mulling, director of the Speech Clinic, and associate professor of speech.

Mulling explained that in each school diagnostic clinics are held to determine what type of speech disorders the children have, and what is causing them. A home and school program is then outlined for the children with parents, teachers, public health nurses, special educators, and speech therapists participating as need is indicated.

"Successful therapy naturally depends on the extent with which parents and teachers cooperate with the therapist," Mulling stated. "In the majority of schools, cooperation has been excellent, and the children have shown decided improvement."

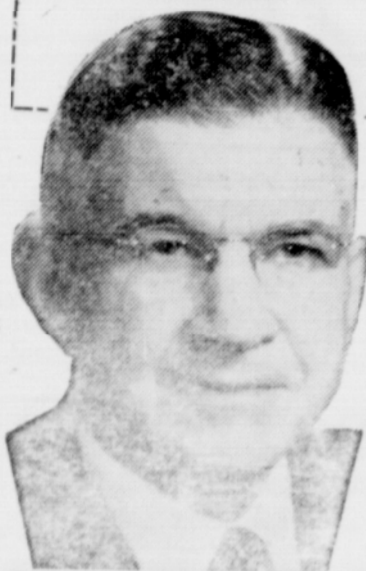

Four meetings have already been conducted, according to Mulling. At Redwood, September 24; Lincoln and Washington, September 25; Shady Cove and Elk Trail, October 1; and Ruch-Applegate, October 2.

A clinic will be held in Brookings on October 31.

good health after laying out all winter, and there's snow laying up there during that time.

Larry's now pinching the watch tight, threatening if Wilson wants it back he will have to come, mighty high, or else Larry'll go back in the brush and give it a good heave!
