DISTRICT VFW COMMANDER SPEAKS IN BROOKINGS
"Younger veterans, failing to make their numbers count, are beginning to learn, the sad way, the cost of their neglect," Dan Krotz of Eagle Point, district V. FW Commander, told the local post last Wednesday evening. "There is an increasing number of inquiries for assistance, both to the posts and Ladies Auxiliaries,"

Krotz reported, from veterans and their dependents, who are in no way helping in veterans' af-fairs. He called attention to the fact there is no pension or com-pensation available for the depen-dents of World War II and Korea, and if these are to be made avail-able, posts and Auxiliaries must have the numerical strength in membership to command Con-gressional attention. This is nec-essary, Krotz warned, even to sustain laws now favoring veter-ans and their kin.
"We must keep repeating," Krotz said, "the fact that no other than a veterans association has so much to offer through mem-bership and at such a reasonable price."
Krotz's district includes the el-even posts of Jackson, Josephine and the post at Brookings. He said his home post, at Shady Cove, is paid up in membership for 1957 as compared with that of 1956.

SEWER PROGRESS
Sewer lines are being laid in the northeast district of the city, the main trunk already up Oak and Pioneer, and along Fir, in most instances, several feet deep in order to get sufficient pitch. At the corner of Oak and Pine, near the greenhouse, the line is 13 feet deep. Considerable trouble has been experienced and much cribbing has been required to prevent the sides from caving in before the sewer line is bedded. Water, in considerable quantities, has been struck in several places where springs burst through.

MILLER DAY COOLEY
A belated obituary tells of the death of another native of the Chetco county, Miller Day, son of John Day and Elizabeth (Inberg) Cooley, who died Sept. 3 at Santa Rosa, Miller, who had an un-cle living here by the same name, was born on the old Cooley place, at Harbor, on October 23, 1882, and lived around here much of his early life, moving to Agness in the early 1900s. On Feb. 23, 1907, he married Eva Remington, who was born July 29, 1884, at Comstock, Oregon. For some years the couple farmed in the Euchre Creek country. She died in 1955. Their children, both sur-viving, son, John Remington of Eureka and Mrs. Isabel Christ-rup of Santa Rosa, and a sister, Mrs. Sadie Pettinger of Agness. Also surviving are four grand-children and four great grandchil-dren.
Interment was from the Chapel of the Chimes, Santa Rosa.

Write-In Campaign For McAllister

Committee appointments have been made in support of the write-in campaign to retain Justice William McAllister in Position No. 1 on the Oregon Supreme Court.
Chairmen of the local commit-tees are: David R. Fortier, general chairman; Edith W. Gallagher, telephone committee; Mildred L. Bynon, publicity committee and Ben Phetteplace, distribution com-mittee. Chairman of the state com-mittee is J. O. Bailey, retired Jus-tice of the Oregon Supreme Court.
Justice McAllister was appoint-ed to the non-partisan post of Jus-tice of the Supreme Court in 1956 upon the death of Judge Latouret-te and due to the lateness of the date it was impossible for his name to appear on the ballot.
McAllister is a native Oregon-ian, and a graduate of Willamette University college of law. He was a member of the House of Repre-sentatives from 1937 to 1944, and was speaker of the House in 1943-44. He also served as a member of the Senate in 1949-50.
McAllister, a veteran of World War II, and has served as a mem-ber of the Board of Governors of the Oregon State Bar. He has lived in Medford during most of his practice.

FANCY CURRY CATTLE BRING TOP PRICES

The world famed Jerseys of the Ralph Cope herd, at Langlois, in Northern Curry county is setting some fancy price records at the Pacific International Livestock Show, Portland. Charles Kelly, of Hudson, Wisconsin paid $2,500 for a young bull and two cows each brought $1,000, sold to a Massa-chusetts buyer. A two day old calf sold for $325, the lowest animal in the sale. Cope sold 69 hd, including 12 calves, for an average price of $595 each. Bidders numbered about 300 and among them were the University of Arizona and others from ten states.
Cope started his herd several years ago, when a boy, as a 4-H project and has since built it up a long record of being highest butterfat producers in the Jersey world.
