From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

There'll Always Be An "Expert"

Drove out to see how they're getting along with the new super-highway that's going to pass through town.

While I was there a fussy little guy—a spectator, like me—came up to the foreman on the job and started making all sorts of suggestions: "Shouldn't it go a little farther left there?... Why don't you bank the curves more?... Those ditches are awful close"... and so, on and on.

The foreman took it as long as he could, then asked politely, "How does she look for length?"

From where I sit, free advice is called "free" because it's usually not worth much. That little fellow was typical of the kind of "expert" who can't resist getting in digs—about how you work, what you wear, why you happen to prefer a glass of beer with your supper. People like that don't mean to be troublemakers... but the road to real intolerance is paved with their good intentions.

More Interest In Port Told

In addition to the letters showing interest in the Port of Brookings published in last week's Pilot we have since received the following. From the Medford Mail Tribune:

Enclosed are two stories rewritten from material furnished by the Brookings Harbor Pilot. We appreciate you sending them to us and would use whatever other information you may be able to furnish, especially in connection with the development of the port. Signed, Earl H. Adams. (The Tribune carried extensive rewrites of both stories previously printed in the Pilot.)

From the Oregon State Motor Association:
Many thanks for the material on the Brookings Port. It is very interesting and we are keeping the material on file for information and future reference. Signed, Sidney M. King, editor.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce, under the signature of Arthur J. Farmer, general manager, writes:
Mr. Sterret has given me your correspondence on the Harbor project. It is customary for the Portland Chamber to support projects of this kind so please keep us advised of the manner in which we can be most helpful to you. Our Washington office has been called on by your people in past years and is always willing to be of practical service to you if it may.

From Mr. Paul F. Hart, manager of traffic and sales, Tilouster Shaver Barge Lines, Portland:
Your letter of October 29th, has finally gotten to my desk. We are very happy to receive this information on the activities in your area. Obviously, we are

Birthday Party for Patricia Thornton

Nine year old Patricia Thornton was a very happy little girl Saturday morning when the members of the Brownie class and other school friends began to arrive at her home in their party dresses and bearing gifts for an afternoon of birthday fun.

Those greeting Patricia were: Joy and Susie Johns, Linda Brown, Judy Lewis, Sylvia Hogen Barbara Fulleton, Sylvia Kettula, Susan Sugg, Sonja Hogen, Pat Driskell, Cheryl Lancaster, Connie Freeman, Dianne Hoie, Karen Western, June Rapraeger, Diana Murray, Jerry Clayton, Pamela, Jim, Sherry and Barry Young, Rick Clayton, Dianice Nieme, Larry, Jane, and Linda Foster, Claretta Foster, Ronnie and Sandra Thornton, Mrs. Murray, assistant Brownie leader, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thornton, parents of Patricia and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Thornton, and Mrs. Ruth Foster.

After the many lovely gifts were opened, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the tired but happy youngsters.

Since activity bearing fruit re a coast highway sign at the "Y" there's activity over on 199 for another sign inviting folks to come their way.

Mytle Point schools shut down, water shortage and reservoirs being conserved in case of fire.

Interested in any deep water ports in Oregon.

The Oregon Association of Port Authorities is becoming a real help in developing Oregon's economic future. We are always happy to assist any port in development. Please keep us advised as to your progress and we will do what we can to further your interests.
