Mincer Loses In Re-Count

It's official now. George Sutton, present county assessor, won the election. A re-count, called for by the Mincer for Assessor committee, was held Thursday, and changed the final tally by only one vote. Mincer finished only four votes behind Sutton in the final re-count figures.

Sutton, who has been the county assessor for 24 years, lost one vote on the recount, and Mincer added one to his total. The first ballot figures showed a difference of six votes between the men. Balloting in the entire county was far over the 4000 figure.

Recounting disclosed that over 300 people in the county didn't mark their ballots for either candidate, stopping that race entirely.

Mincer, a Brookings plywood worker, was in his first attempt for a public office.

Grayshel Named Tax Group Head

Temporary officers of the Curry County Tax League have been elected. They are Charles Grayshel, president; Clarence Brooks, Sixes, vice president and Virgil Clark, secretary-treasurer.

The group was named Friday night at a meeting of the new organization.

Directors named were: Grayshel, Brooks, Langlois; Clark, Berger, C. Ed Dempsey, M. E. Kelly, Port Orford, Orville Townsend and Jim Moir, Gold Beach.

The group reviewed the articles of incorporation, and suggested by-laws. They will meet shortly with the balance of the committee for the final adoption of the papers. Dave Forchier has been appointed acting legal council for the group.

Photographer To Locate Here

Bob Macy, formerly of Phoenix, Arizona, has opened a photography studio in the Manley building, above the Rexall Drug Store. Macy arrived in Brookings last week, after a trip up the coast. He reported that Brookings looked like the nicest city on the coast, and decided to stop here to establish a business.

He formerly was a newspaper photographer for the Phoenix Republic, the largest newspaper in Arizona. He was a varied photographic background, with a great deal of experience. He and his wife are living in an apartment near Mill Beach.

THANKSGIVING

The Wall and the Sea

The muddy street at Plymouth colony ran 150 yards— some say 180—from the Rock to the barrier of green. From the Rock you sighted due east over the sandy cape three thousand empty miles to Spain. But it was the same ocean that broke on the Devon cliffs in England and you could take comfort in that.

West was the loneliness. The wall of trees. Walk one furlong into the forest . . . out of sight of the houses, out of hearing of the ax falls . . . and you were in the silences. No voice to say "cat" or cry "gun" from here to the shining Connecticut of Indian legend and beyond to the nameless and untrodden places, the Taconics and the Hudson, the Catskills and the Alleghenies and the Mississippi and the prairies and the Missouri and the plains and Black Hills and the Rockies and the high desert and the low desert and the Sierra Nevada and the big valley and the golden hills of the water gate by the sea of Drake and Magellan.

That is why sometimes you went inside and barred the door even when the Indians were not about and touched steel and flint and cloth and pewter and sawn wood and powder and lead and printed paper. These must be the real things you said because the loneliness pressed down and up and all around. But you knew they weren't and this is why you sought people and laughter and sermons and a hammer and you fired a gun and dug a foundation and felled a tree and next week the forest and the loneliness were forced back the cast of a stone but not the range of a musket ball.

With the winter gone and the sun hot Indian corn now sprouts where the loneliness was and that is why after the harvest there will be a day of Thanksgiving because you know the wall of trees will not creep back to the Rock again, not next year or ever. When you go to shoot a turkey you hear the ax falls ever farther west.

Tonight you will open the Book and read a Psalm.

PHILLIPS BUY SHEHAN STORE

For the time being the Phillips plan on operating the Shehan establishment in its present location, with Ron Shehan, brother of former owner Bob Shehan, in charge. The Phillips plan to operate the store until after the holiday season, in order to give the people of the area a better selection.

Bob Shehan reports that he had decided to sell the business because of other interests. He plans on staying in the area, and is now working for Leonard Real Estate as a salesman.

No changes will be made in the merchandise in either store at time the Phillips' said.

Announce Dealership

Wards Gas and Appliance Center announced this week that they have been appointed dealer for Coleman heaters. They will add a parts and service department for heaters, for both propane and oil fired heaters.

SKETCH BOOK . . .

By Bud Pisarek

Our beautiful weather has all the natives smiling like the cat that swallowed the canary. Dick Smith had to call me Sunday after he viewed the Green Bay, Wis. consin - Frisco 49 or game on TV. He noticed that many of the Wisconsinites were bundled up like big Kodiak bears and still freezing.

Well, we have the Rose Bowl to look forward to this new year with our own Beavers from Oregon State logical west coast representatives. The big ten will probably send Iowa out to keep their winning ways in the January 1 classic.

If you want to find out who will take the Rose Bowl game consult Roger Thompson in Harbor. Little Rog has been a consistent winner in our weekly football guessing contest. He isn't far off on many of the games.

Mayor elect Fell Campbell has started his get acquainted campaign with the towns people already. Many a morning you can see him buying coffee for the gang. Sure, it is all free will offering on the part of Fell. In other words no two headed coins are used.

Happy Thanksgiving. To keep you interested in the turkey day classic between Oregon and Oregon State I will make a prediction - Oregon State 27, Oregon 13.

A second Brookings bakery has opened in the store formerly occupied by Glen's Bakery. The shop will be operated by Mr. and Mrs. Tew, formerly of Los Angeles, California. It will be called Tew's Bakery.

Mr. Tew will do the baking. The Tew's had a bakery in the Los Angeles region for several years. Their son, Ralph, operates the Associated Service station here.

BROOKING RADIO PERMIT ASKED

Application has been made to the federal communications commission for a new radio station at Brookings.

Joseph F. Sheridan of Crescent City, California, has asked permission to construct a standard broadcast station on 690 kilocycles with one kilowatt of power. The proposed station would operate only in the daytime.

Curry Leads In Tax Raise

Curry county leads the state. Oregon property owners will pay a record-breaking local property tax of $160,093,553 in 1956-57, according to the Oregon Tax Research. Curry county again leads all state counties in the percent increase, a "block buster" 35.2 percent.

Curry county taxes for all purposes was $933,796 last year, and $1,248,703 this year. Curry county also is far ahead of the state in the percentage of increase in school tax, up 44.7 percent.

Three Again Tie for Football Honors

The pigskin upsets all over the country the past week end caused many of the Gold Arrow Football contest guessers to tumble the way many of the upset teams did. Of all the entries only few survived the ordeal enough to come up with 4 losses. These were Ann Nelson, Bill Weideman and Virgil Harrell. Three others tied for second place with five wrong picks. They are: R. C. Baughin, Mark Williams, and Roger Thompson. These winners are asked to stop at the Hiway Market to pick up their prizes.

This week's contest will be the last in this seasons series. Many of the Gold Arrow merchants are upping their prize list for the occasion. Check the Entry page and enter your choices now.

Local City Officials to Take in Conference

Several people, who are now in the city government, or will be on January 1, will attend the League of Oregon Cities annual convention in Portland this coming week. The delegation will be led by Mayor-elect Fell Campbell, City Recorder Bernice Huddleston, Ralph Reed, Councilman Earl Breuer and Jim Kirby. Councilman-elect Ben Phetteplace may attend the meeting.

Jaggers Wins Jelly Contest

Portland, Ore.—D. C. Jaggers, Brookings, can claim to be the best man jelly maker in the state. He won first prize in the men's jelly making class in the Oregon State Grange's 17th annual home canning contest sponsored by the White Satin Sugar company.

Mr. Jagger's prize is a spin fishing outfit, valued at $62. Hundred of entries were received in this year's contest, which were judged at State Grange headquarters here. White Satin officials said the competition was keen.

The company's big plant at Nyssa, the only sugar refinery in Oregon, is now in the process of converting some 600,000 tons of beets into sugar. When the job is completed in late February, approximately 160,000,000 pounds of White Satin sugar will have been produced—enough to give a 100-pound sack to each man, woman and child in Oregon.

Oregon's only sugar refinery means a lot to the economy of Eastern Oregon.

Martha Grayshel Appointed Hostess

Mrs. Martha Grayshel of this city, has returned from San Francisco, where she completed a ten-day course of training preparing her for the position of Welcome Wagon Hostess which she now holds in this community.

Mrs. Grayshel is one of Welcome Wagon's more than 5000 hostesses who are making approximately a million calls annually on families in the United States, Hawaii and in the Provinces of Canada, embracing more than 1500 cities.

These calls on behalf of Welcome Wagon's more than 50,000 sponsors are made on such important family occasions as the Birth of a Baby, Sixteenth Birthdays, Engagement Announcements; when families move locally in a community and when they arrive in a community as new residents. Calls are also made on special occasions such as Golden Wedding Anniversaries and other special family events.

Welcome Wagon is now in its 28th year and is often referred to as a service which is "in the business of building friendships". Welcome Wagon's basic policy includes cooperation with churches of all faiths, with worthwhile civic and welfare groups; also participation in these activities which keep communities good places in which to live. It is significant that Welcome Wagon has been cited for its volunteer service and achievement in community and nation by such organization as the American Red Cross, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, American Heart Association, American Heritage Foundation, United States Treasury Department and many other such groups.

Welcome Wagon service is one not only of public relations but, more important, it meets a present-day need in the field of human relations.

Mrs. Grayshel, on behalf of the merchants here in Brookings and Harbor, will bring church and civic information to the families on whom she calls. With her basket of gifts, Mrs. Grayshel will extend for those merchants to the people of this community the old-fashioned hospitality for which Welcome Wagon is so well known.

Mrs. Grayshel knows this community. She is interested in its welfare and in its progress, including the well-being of its citizens.

A split in the Brookings "medical society" was reported this week, with Dr. David Brown leaving the offices of the Woodland Park Clinic, and Dr. Paul Ronniger.

Dr. Ronniger will continue to practice at the same location, in the Woodland Park Clinic, in the Pilot building. He will be assisted by Dr. Jean Taylor, two days a week. A schedule of their office hours appears in another part of this week's Pilot.

Dr. Ronniger's wife, Lee, who is a registered nurse will assist in the clinic, replacing Ronnie Ragland, who also left the office.

Dr. Brown announced the removal of his office from the Woodland Park Clinic. Dr. Brown will open his own office here in Brookings as soon as remodeling of the old post office space can be completed.

Mrs. Ragland will be employed as his office nurse, assisted by Dr. Brown's wife, who is also a registered nurse.

In the meantime Dr. Brown will continue to care for his patients by making use of the facilities offered him at the Brookings Clinic. Office hours are Monday, Wednesday, Friday evening from 7:30 to 9:00 at the Brookings Clinic. You may contact Dr. Brown at home or by calling 4501.
