

QUEEN JACKIE AND HER COURT are shown on stage just after the coronation ceremony Saturday at the 18th annual Azalea Festival. The crowds were large, the day bright and sunny, and all went well. LINDSEY STARTS AS POSTMASTER

Have you seen a new face in the post office lately? It belongs to Gillman Lindsey, whose appointment as acting postmaster came through from Washington recently.

Lindsey has lived in Brookings for about two years, working previously at the Brookings Plywood plant. He came here from Alaska, where he served as a postal carrier in Palmer, Alaska.

Lindsey is married, and has one boy, "Tex" Nelson, at home. The Lindseys live on Del Norte lane.

The new postmaster has had a varied experience, serving as an air engineer at one time, and flying in Alaska as a "bush pilot".

He reported that no word has been received as yet on when the new postal rates would go into effect. However, Lindsey said that it may be necessary to cut down the clerk hours to enable the local post office to stay within their budget.
