

NEW DENTIST FOR BROOKINGS

A new dentist has arrived in Brookings. Dr. R. E. Smith announces the association of Dr. Robert Goodwin in the practice of dentistry at his office in the Brookings Clinic.

Dr. Smith will specialize in extractions and denture construction. Dr. Goodwin will practice general dentistry including children's dentistry, crowns and bridgework.

Office hours will be lengthened from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for patients convenience.

Dr. Goodwin has arrived in the community and has begun his practice.

He is from Hillsboro, and took his dental training at the new dental school in the Medical center in Portland.

Dr. Goodwin is married. He and his wife Mary have two children, and are expecting a third. The family expects to move to Brookings shortly.

McGREW TAKES OVER MARKET

Herschel McGrew, a native of the Brookings area, has taken over the meat market, at the Dimmick Bros. Brookings Market, effective immediately.

The market has been operated for the past six years by Glenn Hurst.

McGrew has been employed at the meat counter for over a year. He will change the name of the market to Mac's Market.

Hurst's plans for the future were indefinite.

PRINCESS SELECTION AUG. 6

HERE ARE THE FOUR CANDIDATES FOR the Curry County Fair Princess. They are, left to right, Charlotte Harvey, Linda Vernon, Alice Smith, and Mary Ann Olsen. One of the four will be selected to represent Southern Curry County on the Fair Court, and she will also have an opportunity to be chosen Fair Queen, if the number of entries from Southern Curry County are large and good enough. The winning Princess will be announced next Tuesday night, August 6, at the Grange Hall in Harbor.

TO ANNOUNCE WINNER AT CHETCO GRANGE HALL.

The Southern Curry County girl that will represent this section as the Fair Princess at the Curry County Fair on August 9, 10, and 11th, will be announced at the Spaghetti dinner being served by the Youth committee of the Chetco Grange next Tuesday evening at the Grange Hall, from 5:30 to 8:00 o'clock.

The four girls competing for the honors are Charlotte Harvey, Linda Vernon, Mary Ann Olsen, and Alice Smith. They are selling chances on several valuable items, which will be drawn for Tuesday evening, also.

There will be at least ten door prizes which will be included with the dinner tickets, the first prize being a $25.00 coffee maker donated by Evans Electric.

The Fair Princess from this area has the opportunity of being selected Fair Queen. The Fair Queen is selected entirely on the number of points her part of the county accumulates at the Fair, with a point credited for each entry at the Fair, with additional points awarded for the exhibits judged 1st, 2nd, and 3rd.

It will be easier this year for the local people to exhibit at the fair, as it has been arranged for someone to be at the Chetco Grange Hall all day August 8, to help in making entries.

At this time you can register your exhibits and get your exhibitor number, a time consuming job when you make the entries at the Fair Ground on Friday morning before 10 a.m.

It has been urged by local groups that everybody get behind the local Fair Princess and make her the Fair Queen this year.

COMMUNITY FOREST BEING PLANNED HERE

SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPT. 3

The Brookings-Harbor schools will open its doors for a full day of school on Tuesday, Sept. 3, the day after Labor Day.

Registration will be held during the week prior, and an attempt will be made to get the Plywood people's children before they leave for their vacation.

THIRD LANE BEING ADDED

The third lane, a "climbing" lane is being added to highway 101 as it comes into Brookings from the south.

The past few days contractors were digging up the right lane, in preparation for the leveling and paving.

RURAL CARRIERS TO MEET HERE

About 20 rural mail carriers from all over Southern Oregon are expected to meet in Brookings on Sunday, August 11.

Ferdie Stienmetz, who is the local mail carrier, is making all the arrangements, which will include a pot luck dinner.

Carriers will come from Medford, Klamath Falls, Ashland, Grants Pass, Rogue River, Central Point, and other cities for the meeting.

A Community Forest project is in the wind, if District Forest ranger, W.E. Ragland has anything to say about it.

Through the Brookings Rotary club Ragland hopes to have such a project started in this area to give the youngsters in the school system a chance to learn conservation practices, such as tree planting, and soil erosion practices.

If anyone in the community has 40 acres of cut-over land that they would like to turn over to the school district to be dedicated as a Community Forest they should contact the Pilot immediately.

Desirable features for the plot would be proximity to the school or highway and gentle topography

SIZZLING BARBEQUED CHICKEN is on the grill, and those two specialists, Elsie and Vic Reynolds are shown putting the finishing touches on the meal. This was the scene at the third annual Elks Picnic, held at the Freeman Ranch up the Chetco, with around 500 in attendance. The chicken was delicious and turned into a golden brown testimonial for the Reynolds and other cooks who were slaving over a hot grill all day while the others enjoyed themselves with less strenuous activities.

RATTLESNAKE COUNTRY

FOURTEEN BUTTON RATTLE KILLED SUNDAY

Mrs. William Clement is justly proud of killing a rattler with fourteen rattles on it, this side of Boulder Creek as they were returning from Red Mountain Sunday afternoon.

As she and her husband were driving along the road, they spotted the rattler beside the road, coiled and ready to strike. Mrs. Clement grabbed their twenty-two and shot the rattler twice through the head.

Then her husband drove the jeep onto it's body so that it was pinned down by a rear wheel and the rattlers cut off.

Mrs. Clement says that she isn't sure how long the rattler was, but she is sure that it was the biggest one she had ever seen, and the first one she had ever killed.

If anyone is interested they have the rattles at home to show for their efforts.

DISTRICT COMMANDER TO VISIT LOCAL VFW

Ferdie Stienmetz, local VFW Post Commander, announced that district commander Albrecht from Rogue River is expected to visit the Brookings Post 966 with his staff of officers on August 7.

Stienmetz urged a large attendance for the meeting.

ADULT SWIMMING CLASS

Cal Pace, who has conducted the Brookings Summer Swimming program for the youngsters has indicated that if there is enough interest shown he will conduct an adult swimming class.

Anyone interested in the program is asked to contact him before Monday.
