and that accounts for the shortage of rainbow eggs."

M. D. Morgan, secretary of the Siuslaw Rod and Gun Club has written to the State Game Commission that coyotes have not only been killing deer, but slaughtering ewes and lambs of farmers in the lake section north of Florence. The report has been turned over to Stanley Jewett, leader of the U. S. government predatory animal control.

hollered to those on the junk. The dog would bark at the family and they seemed to get quite a kick out of it. We're going right up the river without stopping in Shanghai till we come back. Our first stop will be at a place called Who Foo or some such a name. Next stop will be at Hankow and our last stop up the river will be at Chin King Lee, which is about 800 miles up the Yang Te Ze. The river is a dirty yellow color. It looks as though all the filth of China were in it. On May 22nd and 23rd, we went thru the worst storm I've ever seen. One minute the nose of the ship was pointed to the sky, the next it was under a wave. The ship was bounced around almost like a cork, and its a little better than 500 feet long. The distance from Los Angeles to Shanghai is 5,783 miles. It took us 29 days to make the voyage. We saw no land for 27 days, until we hit Japan. On the 28th we went through the narrows. It is a channel between several islands of Japan. We passed within 40 miles of Yokohama. From Yokohama to Shanghai it is only 437 miles.

discovered. Five openings occur in a limestone cliff, with passages leading inward about 15 feet and there converging into one passage which may be followed for 200 feet, where it is blocked. To test the connection, it is said fires were built in the Brush Creek entrance, and the smoke was found to fill the Ghost Room and issue from the Cave Creek entrance. The extent of the Caves can only be guessed at. The marble ledge in which they occur has been traced many miles. However, the Caves are supplied with an abundance of fresh air at a uniform temperature, winter and summer, of 48 degrees F.

Although the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, the Luray Caverns in Virginia, and the Wind Cave in South Dakota are much larger than the Oregon Caves, it is said by competent observers that in none of these, or the other well-known caverns in this country, do the formations assume such grotesque, fantastic, and beautiful shapes.

Resolution of Condolence

Out of deep respect and on behalf of Sheridan Post No 75 of the American Legion, Department of Oregon, We resolve as follows:

WHEREAS, death has entered our Post and taken away one of our most beloved and faithful comrades, Fred L. Coughlin, of Willamina, who died gloriously for God and Country from the ravishes of disease contracted while serving his Country in France during the World War;

Therefore, Be it resolved by the said Post No. 75 of the American Legion that we most sincerely extend to his bereaved father Michael E. Coughlin, and brother, George Coughlin, our most sincere sympathy and deeply do we mourn the loss of a worthy friend and comrade.

Be it further resolved that the Post Charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and a copy of this resolution be sent to the said relatives of the deceased and also a copy thereof be spread upon the official records of the Post.

Dated June 10th, 1929.

D ID you ever wonder how the corned beef that jiggs so loves got its name? Well, the story goes that corned beef used to be preserved by dry-salting—sprinkled with "corns" of salt (i.e., coarse grains of salt) instead of being preserved in brine. As dry-salting went out of use, the term "corning" came to signify brining. Today corned beef is still the same delicious, tender meat it has always been, and served hot or cold it's always toothsome and sustaining. The most convenient form in which to get it is in cans, since you can always have it on hand in this way ready for instant use. Mixed with diced potatoes and fried, heated with sauerkraut or used as a sandwich filling, corned beef is in a class by itself, but there are still other ways to prepare it.

For instance, to make corned beef corn, heat two tablespoons cooking fat in a frying pan and add one small can of corned beef; sauté until well heated, then add the contents of a number 2 can of corn and bring to the boil, stirring constantly.

Patties for Parties

Or corned beef patties: mix one and one-half cups chopped corned beef, three-fourths cup bread crumbs, one finely chopped green pepper and one-half minced onion. Beat two eggs slightly and add to the meat mixture. Mold in form of patties and brown in a frying pan in bacon fat. Serve with hot tomato soup just as it comes from the can as a sauce and garnish with rings of green pepper.
