Where New U. S. Base Is Taking Shape

A 'Mixed' Artillery Battery in Britain

The present World war is an experimental ground for many things that "were never done before." Typical of the never-nevers was the fetish that men and women could not work or fight together in the same regiment. At an artillery practice camp in England these taboos are ousted. Left, we see men and women of the battery parading together, and on the right they are receiving gun instruction together. The test is successful.

American Base in Greenland

A scene at the American base in Greenland, showing two patrol ships tied to an oil tanker, with a coast guard tug beside them. In far background is a U. S. army transport, while in the foreground can be seen soldiers aboard the transport from which this was taken. This picture is from the first shipment of photos of the American forces in Greenland.

New Senator

Roger C. Peace, the new senator from South Carolina, publisher of the News-Piedmont, Greenville, S. C., who was appointed by Governor Maybank to fill out unexpired term of late Sen. Alva Lumpkin, who died after serving less than two weeks in the senate.

Boss Here

Defense Plant Foreman—Now, then, hurry up.
Worker—All right, boss. But Rome wasn't built in a day.
Defense Plant Foreman—Maybe not. But I wasn't foreman on that job.

Slight Slip

Forced to put on his brakes suddenly, the driver of the sports car found it shooting crabwise across the road, just missing a lamp-post before it stopped.
Up strolled a policeman.
"Well," he remarked genially, "you got a nice skid there, sir."
"Pardon me, officer," was the haughty reply; "this lady is my wife."

All or Nothing

Shyly the young man stood before the father of his adored.
"Mr. Jones," he stammered, "I—er—will—er—what I want is to ask you for your daughter's hand."
The old man frowned as he took his pipe from his mouth.
"Can't do that," he growled; "you must take the whole girl or nothing."

Considerate

Tom—Hi, what's the idea of wearing my raincoat?
Tim—Well, you wouldn't like your new suit to get wet, would you?

Struggle for Light

We forget that the human spirit, the spirit of goodness and truth in the world, is still only an infant crying in the night, and that the struggle with darkness is as yet mostly an unequal struggle.—Jan Christian Smuts.

It's A GOOD AMERICAN CUSTOM

SATURDAY NIGHT BATHS have been an American custom since the first settler's wife pointed to the tub and said: "Climb in and wash some of that soil off your hide." Objectors considered such frequent bathing harmful.

SMOKING KING EDWARD Cigars is a truly pleasurable custom, enjoyed by wise smokers everywhere. America's favorite cigar.
