Household Hints

Old blankets that become worn can be cut into convenient sizes to serve many useful purposes. Pads for the ironing board, pot holders, shoe polishing cloths, and crib blankets are but a few ways that old blankets can be conserved.

To prolong the life of children's shoestrings, stitch up and down them several times on the sewing machine.

In lengthening your daughter's dresses, sometimes a ridge appears where the old hem used to be. To conceal this, follow the line of the ridge with a row of rickrack braid. Stitch in place by machine. This treatment also gives the dress an attractive bit of trim.

Plan a "play at home" night each week with games, music, stunts, story-telling and candy pulling besides.

When oilcloth becomes worn, salvage the good parts and make covers for a cushion. Pad with a section from an old quilt and bind with bias tape. You'll like it to kneel on when scrubbing or working in the garden. Youngsters will like it for sitting in the grass.
