done with a report for the 2021 audit. I asked if he was aware of any pressure from the state in regards to those audits not being done and he had no information to address that. It has been reported that the State has pushed back on city officials due to complaints to the State Ethics Board and lawsuits in this and other regards. I'm of the opinion that the city has opened the door to enhance the process of "righting the ship" as it were. Ken Strobeck is certainly qualified to provide some guidance to current city officials and staff with his expertise in civic and municipal function and processes. I look forward to some clarity and rejuvenation to efforts within city government to further and enhance the livability and prosperity of the citizens and businesses here. Mr Strobeck, there are high expectations of you on behalf of the city of Drain.
