Hunter safety course offered

by Ruth Nogle

Jewell Community School is offering a weaving seminar Saturday, February 21 at 1 pm at the Jewell School. Susan Holden will teach the basics of hand weaving and also show types of hand buildable looms. If enough interest is shown she will hold a ten week class through Clatsop Community College in March. If you are interested but can't attend the class held on February 21, call 755-2385.

A hunter's safety course is being offered to residents of the valley. Jim Reeher is offering this eight week class. To help set a most convenient time and date call 755-2385.

The Elsie-Vinemaple Rural Fire Protection District No. 11 is proud to announce it has achieved an "8" rating. Mrs. George Hempe, executive secretary, reports that this means a possible 33 percent reduction in member's insurance rates and is a result of over two years of hard work in upgrading. Mrs. Margaret Tweedy is dispatcher, operating the base station. In case of an emergency call her at 755-2233.

Norman Wilkins is fire chief and Bev Wheeler is treasurer. The test, conducted by an inspector from the state of Oregon, was made last October and included water pressure along with other standards for the welcome No. 8 rating. An election of board members for the fire district will be held March 31. Henry Rierson has served on the board since its' founding in December of 1969 and has now announced his retirement.
