friend discovers loss

To the Editor:

I would like to publicly commend four very fine people: Linda Thompson, Don and Diane Willard, and Pat Goodman for the many acts of kindness they have unselfishly performed for others, most particularly for the help they have given my friend Jim Vasey and for the continued care of his remaining dogs now that he is gone.

Quite frankly, your actions have made me think about myself and I am ashamed of my inexcusable lack of constructive action on Jim's behalf in the last two years. I was a "fair weather" friend.

Were it not for the inspiring example the four of you have provided, my feelings of mental anguish upon learning of recent cruelties which transpired while Jim was in the hospital would have been unbearable, and I gratefully thank you. What can I say, you're wonderful people!

I urge everyone to consider being of help by making a contribution in Jim's memory. You would be given a tax-purpose receipt for the value of dog food or money given.

percent of previous levels. Local budget problems have also created an adverse impact. Operation of the lunch program, through most years, has been possible without direct support of the local taxpayers. The recent shift from the philosophy of Federal government support to local responsibility has created a transitional problem. If lunchroom participation by students does not show a further decrease, it is believed that the curtailed program can remain financially stable and continue in operation for the 1981-82 school year.
