

Federal Employees Salaries Increased

With the expiration June 30 of the Federal Wartime 48-hour Work Week Pay Act, Congress enacted the 1945 Federal Employees Pay Act which increases the basic pay schedules of all federal employees, effective July 1, 1945.

The new rate is calculated for a 40-hour work week. All work in addition to 40 hours per week is paid on an overtime basis. The increases adopted were figured on a graduated scale over the old rate; 20% on the first $1200 plus 10% on the balance above $1200 up to $4600 with a 5% increase on portion of salary over $4600.

The following table gives a comparison between the old and new rate on salaries of $1800 to $6000.
