

alley. Leo wasn't Casey at the bat, Leo was Leo, and he slammed one out for four bases into deep center. It would have gone out of an ordinary park, but this one is about 10 miles long, so he couldn't quite make it. It was long enough to bring in all of the runners, walkers and limpers from 26 years minus (the minus for the benefit of the "girl" players) to 60 plus. Well, that smack sort of evened the score, and from then on it was neck and neck and the game ended in a dead heat (no baseball term, but the heat was heat and the players were almost dead).

"There was dancing too. Jimmy Davis did a buck and wing and Ed Schertenleib auctioneered (or whatever you call it) the square dances, and no doubt some of the participants re-discovered some corns they thought were cured, and others discovered some years they didn't realize they had.

"It was great, and we hope there'll be another next year and that everybody will come."

ROSE CITY CHAPTER No. 5

The regular meeting of Rose City chapter got under way to a good start, but a little later than had been planned, due to unavoidable circumstances. Dinner, served about 8:00 P.M. by a well-staffed entertainment committee, consisted of creamed chicken on biscuits, mashed potatoes, green beans, salad, with ice cream and cookies for dessert.

After dinner, Mr. Moore introduced Mr. Forrest Stewart, who acted as Master of Ceremonies. Mr. Stewart introduced several guests, including Mr. Query. Mr. Query gave a short talk on civil service. Mr. Stewart then introduced the main speaker, Mr. Colman of the Civil Service Board. He told
