

CHAPTER NEWS

C. W. Wright, chief of the division of grain inspection, and a charter member of Ag chapter, and his staff, are now located at 1517 N.W. Hoyt Street, Portland. The Portland branch office, which boasts several chapter members, is doing business in the Governor building since the Oregon building was taken over by a utility. And Haskell Andrews, shipping point supervisor there, now has offices at 335 S. E. Morrison.

Agricultural chapter hasn't scheduled regular meetings during the year, but every member is vitally interested in OSEA and appreciative of its work and efforts in behalf of the whole system.

EVERGREEN CHAPTER No. 28

The Evergreen chapter of the Oregon State Employees Association met in the State Hospital auditorium on Friday evening, December 13, with 50 members present.

Mr. Loren White, of the State Industrial Accident Commission, was guest speaker. He spoke on the accomplishments of the association, and the things it hoped to accomplish in the future.

At the November meeting the members elected their officers for the coming year. Our popular president, Billy Wilson, was reelected for that office, and C. H. Jarvis was elected vice-president for another term. The other officers elected were Miss Henrietta Bear, treasurer; and Mrs. Archie Shelton, secretary. These officers were installed at the December meeting.

The chapter is making plans for a
