

will be held jointly with Rose City Chapter in Redman Hall, S.E. 9th and Hawthorne, on March 26. The two chapters will be hosts to the new Success and Public Welfare Chapters. The main speaker will be Leo Smith, our legal adviser, and we also look forward to having our Executive Secretary, Forrest Stewart, as a visitor. Let's see how many new members we can add to our list and bring to the meeting. Refreshments and an enjoyable evening are promised.

CAPITOL CHAPTER No. 19

Capitol Chapter No. 19 got off to a good start under its choice of feminine rule for the current year with President Jessie Singleton in the chair, when it met at the Y.M.C.A. February 11.

This was Valentines Day, which meant a Valentine party, and among the games played the principal one was contesting for the bow and arrow championship by shooting at a large paper heart. The bow had been manufactured by that master craftsman, yours truly, and shot so straight it became a question whether the target would escape entirely unscathed. However, eventually the keen-eyed Johanna Perry and the undaunted Red Hasty proved they were the modern editions of Calamity Jane and Wild Bill Hickok. They were fittingly rewarded with hunks of buffalo meat, which were later found to be candy bars.

Expressions of sympathy were adopted for Miss Velma Gilliam, who had the misfortune to break her hip in alighting from a bus.

Since the legislature has been in session, it is noted that daily conferences take place among those employees of retirement age who are busy trying to figure how to make $40 to $50 do what four times that much has had difficulty in accomplishing.

The President announced that it was the intention to obtain a prominent member of the legislature to speak at the March meeting on questions in which we are vitally interested.

SIAC CHAPTER No. 20

We don't like to brag, but there is every indication that SIAC Chapter No. 20 is really coming to life. This is no doubt due, in part at least, to the work of the entertainment committee—R. M. Ashby, Chairman, ably assisted by Marcia Smith, Winifred Nolan, and Ken Conover.

It all started several meetings ago,
