

pending measures in which our members are vitally interested. Also, he answered the questions asked, embarrassing and otherwise.

The April meeting was a dud, with no speaker and no food, but on May 9 Mr. Nunn of the Civil Service commission explained the changes and results in the Civil Service and Retirement acts when the new legislation becomes effective, and everyone's attention was held.

In a determined effort to increase the membership of our chapter, that committee has plans under way for a potluck dinner at the Woman's club for our June meeting. We have too many employees in our department who are willing to stand by and accept the benefits gained through the Association's efforts and yet refuse to lend their assistance, and it is hoped more of them will see the light.

OREGON CHAPTER No. 22

Several new members from the employment service division of the Unemployment Compensation Commission have been added in recent weeks, and an active campaign is under way to bring in still more employees of the former federal section. With the life insurance plan about to be adopted and with all the effective accomplishments of the O. S. E. A. in bringing about improved working conditions and pay scales, the Oregon chapter anticipates little trouble in convincing everyone of the advantages of joining the organization.

Fred Fralick recently resigned as chapter treasurer because of his impending retirement from state service
