

It was asked whether anything had been done about reorganizing the Forestry Chapter and Mr. Stewart reported that nothing so far had been done as he had not had time.

Duties of Executive Secretary Discussed

Mr. Chidsey offered two suggestions. One dealt with the fact that the Association had placed a heavy load on the executive secretary's shoulders in the way of propositions on which action was expected and there had been a lot of criticism in the papers on the fact that the consensus of opinion has been the secretary did not do the work lined out for him. The facts are that the program lined out for him would take his full time and yet he is expected to spend 50 to 75 per cent of his time doing clerical work in the office. During the first year of the organization there was no executive secretary and the work was done, some of it with voluntary labor, and everybody worked. The suggestion was made that the Association ask for more voluntary time. There are times when there are a great many letters and much clerical work. There are stenographers who are members and there should be some plan worked out in the various chapters so the girls can volunteer a night a week or a month to assist in this work. Mr. Chidsey suggested a committee in each chapter so that if the headquarters office needed help they could call on the volunteers. Some members will remember a lot of midnight oil burned, where now everything is turned over to Mr. Stewart and he is expected to do all the work, sell insurance, get new members and everything else.

The other suggestion of Mr. Chidsey had to do with the chapters in Salem expecting Mr. Stewart to attend all their meetings or they feel slighted. If he attends one meeting a year in the outside chapters they feel favored. He does not work for just the chapters in Salem; he works for all the chapters in the state.

President White asked how it would be if he told the local chapters not to call on Mr. Stewart any more than necessary?

Mr. Stewart assured the board that he was very happy to attend any meeting he could and he wanted to attend as many as possible.

Mr. R. M. Smith said he believed that in the newspaper reports Mr. Stewart's name should be mentioned more often, then people would know what he is doing. They will realize
