Festival in Portland, or it might be the sponsorship of baseball games by reservation of a section or with publicity to help the sale and attendance. It could work two ways: from the chapters' standpoint in local affairs, and from the association standpoint in state affairs.

Mr. Cameron said he wished to supplement what Mr. O'Neil has said by reporting that there had been two district meetings at which this same subject had been discussed. It was felt there was an activity for which the employees did not get sufficient credit, but one in which all participated. That is contributing to the various drives such as Red Cross, March of Dimes, Community Chest, in which state offices always have gone over their quotas. This is put on the bulletin boards at the drive headquarters, but we should have more publicity for what is actually being done, and this would hold true all over the state.

Mr. O'Neil said there has been some publicity about the blood donations.

He also said he had been approached by the U. S. Treasury District Supervisor on the Savings Bond Drive. There will be a campaign to interest people, and he has promised wholehearted support in the drive and will distribute literature and will try to put it across with the state employees.

R. M. Smith, Civil Service Director:

Mr. Smith said one impression he had gained from the Civil Service Commission is that if state employees get another adjustment in wages it will be in the other direction. There
