

others of the group stand in a circle with their hands on each other's shoulders and sing. They dance the American dances and also have their own Spanish and folk dances. As a rule, Basques play cards but do not gamble; if they drink they do not become boisterous.

In the remote districts where American influence is less pronounced the houses are of the Spanish Basque type, low and of stone, divided into numerous small rooms, assuring warmth in winter and coolness in summer.

Cases of intermarriage are reportedly confined to Basque men marrying American girls.

Driving in a dense fog, a motorist followed the taillight ahead, free from worry. Suddenly the red beacon stopped and the cars collided.

"Hey, why don't you put out your hand when you're going to stop?" yelled the man behind.

Came the meek reply: "Should I, in my own garage?"

The contractor, stopped by a policeman for speeding, angrily called the cop an ass . . . When he'd paid his fine the judge reproved him for what he'd said to the cop.

"Judge, you mean I shouldn't call a policeman an ass?"

"Certainly not," said the judge, "you must have respect for authority and not insult the police."

"Well, Judge," the contractor went on, "you wouldn't care if I called an ass a policeman, would you?"

The judge pondered this a moment then his eyes twinkled.

"Why, no, I suppose not."

The contractor turned to the officer who had arrested him: "Goodbye, policeman."

I sincerely believe that the word "relationships" is the key to the prospect of a decent world. It seems abundantly clear that every problem you will have—in your family, in your business, in our nation, or in this world—is essentially a matter of relationships, of interdependence.

Mountain Girl: "Doctah, Ah cum to see y'all about ma Grandmaw. We gotta do somethin' 'bout her smokin'."

Doctor: "Oh, now Elviry, I wouldn't fret too much about that. Lots a women smokes."

Mountain Girl: "Yeah, Ah know, but Grandmaw inhales."

Doctor: "I still wouldn't fret, Elviry. Lotsa women inhales."

Mountain Girl: "Ah knows that—but Grandmaw don't exhale!"
