

What's Where

As a state employe, especially if you meet the public, you have probably been asked many times, "Where's the Land Board?" or "Please, can you tell me where to get a driver's license?" With all the new faces and names appearing in the public service building, and the re-shuffling of agencies in the capitol and state office building, it takes a lot of information to keep track of the location of state agencies. For the state employe's convenience, here is a listing of what and who are where in the capitol group.
