A review of the records reveal that this chapter had an average attendance of 35% of its membership throughout the year. This set a new attendance record for Chapter 20. According to the retiring president, John Susbauer, there were a number of factors which played an important part in getting this record.

1. Business meetings were short. They began promptly and never lasted over forty-five minutes.
2. The rank and file of our membership was given every opportunity to be heard.
3. Some item of common interest was brought up at each meeting.
4. Committees were well distributed over the membership and after appointment, were given every opportunity to function freely.
5. The entertainment committee arranged programs of unusual interest.
6. Varied refreshments were served after each meeting to stimulate sociability.
7. Our meetings and functions were well advertised by the use of unique posters.

The SIAC Chapter is looking forward to another successful year. Can we break another record, SIAC members? It is up to you.
