

Berlan Lemon, 30, psychologist, has succeeded Walden Simpson as director of the educational advisory division of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission which is charged with bringing to the attention of the general public, and especially the youth of the state, the harmful effects of overindulgence in alcoholic liquors. Lemon is a graduate of Oregon State College ('41), and won his Masters degree at the University of Oregon. Later he was acting associate in psychology at the University of Washington.

Inspector John Shriver is back from a leave of absence and is keeping an eye on vulnerable Southwest Portland licensees. John spent his time off in California.

Elmer H. Pauley, veteran Eugene store manager, has succeeded John Walker, also of Eugene, to the post of assistant store supervisor for Southwestern Oregon. Walker resigned after 14 years with OLCC. Store under Pouley's guidance are at Albany, Eugene, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Coos Bay, North Bend and Springfield. Pauley is succeeded as Eugene store manager by his former assistant, William Duckworth.

FIELD AND SHOP CHAPTER

Field and Shop reports that the new engine exhaust system in the main repair shop building is working out very well. The shop buildings are very large and a great amount of carbon monoxide is liberated into the air but the new system is apparently taking care of the poisoned air in good shape. Our headquarters staff of the OSEA cooperated with Chapter 38 in arranging with management to adjust what was once a very bad situation. We all feel that great progress has been made in improving working conditions for our employees.

THE DALLES CHAPTER 9

News from Chapter 9 has been missing for a long time, we are still plodding along trying to keep the wheels turning. Each crew in this district takes their turn in furnishing entertainment at our monthly meetings. The entertainment so far has been swell, members are still hanging back and not turning out like they should.

Andy Smith, Oak Springs and Harvey McClain spent one day in The Dalles working on non-members, they succeeded in recruiting four new members.

At our August meeting the chapter passed a resolution sponsoring three 4-H scholarships for next year.
