A Call for Help...

The replacement of diseased bone marrow for leukemia patients can be a lifesaving procedure. Each year, this disease affects nearly 27,000 adults and more than 2,000 children in the United States. Tanya Wray, daughter of longtime activist, Wes Brain from Southern Oregon University in Ashland, is one of many who is in need of our help. To volunteer as a bone marrow donor, please contact the marrow donor registry below.
