WITH this issue the Oregon Weekly suspends publication until next semester. In turning over the santon to our successors, we do so with the best of wishes, believing that in their hands the paper will enjoy a healthy growth and a generous support which it justly deserves. For the two years during which we have been connected with the Weekly it has had its ups and downs, but those two years have demonstrated the fact that the University of Oregon can support a newspaper and that there is plenty of news for its columns. We have done the best possible for the paper under the circumstances and sincerely trust that the incoming staff will enjoy the support that they justly deserve.

THE present college year has been a most successful one as far as student enterprises are concerned. The football season demonstrated the fact that Oregon is a leading factor in coast athletics. The track season proved the same thing and showed that college athletics in the northwest are beginning to predominate over those of the club. Not only in athletics have we succeeded in holding our end up, but our debaters have added another credit, our Glee club has made an other successful tour and every department of the college has enjoyed a healthy growth. Let the good work continue.

THE victory over Multnomah, on May 25, unquestionably establishes the athletic supremacy of the University of Oregon in the Northwest. "Champions of the Northwest" is a title we may feel justly proud of, and if comparisons count for anything, having made a ten point better score against Berkeley than did Stanford, we are rightfully entitled to consider ourselves the second best on the coast in college athletics.

CHAMPIONS of the Northwest in debate, track athletics and football is a rattling good record for one year. May the 'Varsity be as successful in 1901-02.

PROGRESSIVE people are always trying to produce something better. As the WEEKLY is a part of the University we hope to see it grow with the institution.

THE sporting columns of the Post-Intelligencer must be dry reading these days for our Washington friends.

IN Roy Heater the University of Oregon has the best all-around college athlete on the coast.

ANOTHER successful college year is drawing to a close.

VOTED A SCHOLARSHIP.

Another U. O. Student Honored with Scholarship at Yale.

Following on the heels of Student Fountain's recognition at Columbia College, John A. VanGross of U. O. has just received a letter from Prof. Phillips of Yale University, informing him that the faculty at a meeting held May 9th, voted him a scholarship in that institution. Mr. VanGross is an assistant in mathematics at the U. O. and is one of the bright young men of the institution. We wish him success, for he is worthy of it.

Eutaxian Notes

The Eutaxians held their last meeting for the year last Friday afternoon. After a brief program there was a spirited debate on the subject, "Resolved, That the Platt Amendment is Just and Necessary." Bessie Hammond, '01 and Margaret Bannard, '03 argued for the affirmative; Elizabeth Logan, '02 and Adele Pickel, '01 for the negative. The speaking showed careful study on both sides of the question and proved to the society that it would have at least two able debaters to start with next year. The president, Miss Ester Johnson, '01, decided a majority of two points in favor of the affirmative.

In the program "The Incomplete Revelation," recited by Miss Ida Calef, '02, deserves special mention.

Staff for 1903 Webfoot

The members of the Sophomore class met last week and elected Harvey B. Densmore for editor-in-chief, and Condon Bean for business manager of the 1903 Webfoot. The two gentlemen have the right to select their own assistants and as many as they want. The staff will begin work immediately, and if the men at the head are any indication of what their production will be, the class of 1902 will have worthy successors in the publication of the Webfoot, so ably begun by the present Junior class.

Minchin Defeated.

The inter-state inter-collegiate oratorical contest between representatives of the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, took place at Walla Walla on Wednesday night, May 29. Arthur Hauerbach of Whitman college was declared winner of the Northwest championship by defeating Elwood Minchin, of Pacific college, Newberg, Or. W. T. Laube, who was to have represented the University of Washington, in the contest did not appear.

Hutchinson Goes to Portland.

Reno Hutchinson, graduate manager of the student affairs of the University of California, has resigned his position to accept that of religious director of the Portland Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hutchinson is well known in Eugene, as he accompanied the U. C. track team on its recent northern trip. He has been most successful in his management of affairs at Berkeley and his place will be hard to fill.

A young man of Portland has won a scholarship for unusual proficiency in mathematics, at Columbia University, N. Y. The young men of Oregon nearly always make good records away from home. —Portland Telegram.
