ALL-NORTHWEST TEAM.

The Oregonian Gives Two U. O. Players Positions.

THAYER AND ZEIGLER.

The Oregonian's all northwest football team contains two University of Oregon players, Thayer and Zeigler, which is a better arrangement than the Telegram's all-Oregon team, published a few days ago. Here is the Oregonian's line up:

 Tackles—Pratt, M. A. A. C.; and Elton, W. A. C.
 Ends—Zeigler, Oregon; Barnard, W. A. C.

MAKE-UP OF SECOND TEAM.

The second team, composed of all-northwest players, according to the Oregonian, would line-up as follows:

TEAM FOR COACHES.

A number of good coaches have been at work on the different gridirons of the Northwest this year. Some of them were at one time the star players of big Eastern teams, while others have distinguished themselves locally.

The team of coaches would line up about as follows:

Center—Namack, W. A. C.
 Guards—Woodruff, M. A. A. C., and Wright, U. W.
 Tackles—Herbold, U. I.; Eastland, Heppner.
 Ends—McMillan, M. A. A. C., and McFadden, Pacific University.
 Halfbacks—Smith, U. O., and Bishop, Chemawa.
 Quarterback—Edwards, Albany College.
 Fullback—Allen, Whitman.

Pacific Grove Conference.

Thomas Williams and Carl Davis, U. O. representatives to the student conference at Pacific Grove, returned home last week. They report an enthusiastic and successful meeting. The colleges of the Northwest were represented, as follows: Oregon Agricultural College, 3; Pacific University, 2; Willamette University, 2; Albany College, 1; Dallas College, 1; University of Washington, 3; Washington Agricultural College, 1; Whitman, 2; University of Idaho, 1; U. O., 2. Mr. Colton was in charge of the conference. Among other speakers were Dr. Wheeler of Berkeley; Pugh, of Ohio; Hibbard, of Northwestern; Parsons, Wood, McCoy, and others.

Philologist.

The regular meeting of the society was held in Philologist Hall Friday evening, January 10th. After routine business and appointments the following program was given:

Recitation by Templeton.
 Extemporaneous address by Gray.
 Current events by McArthur.
 Election of officers resulting as follows:—President, Gorrell; vice president, Blythe; secretary, Templeton; assistant secretary, Tomlinson; treasurer, Wagner, censor, Goodall; editor, Galey; librarian, Gray; sergeant-at-arms, Eaton.

Debate on the question: "Resolved, That the United States should adopt a system of ship subsidies." Affirmative side was supported by Hemenway and Stockton. Negative side supported by Tomlinson and Fisher. Points were made on both sides as follows:—Affirmative: The merchant marine should be built up; subsidies are necessary to secure this end; American ships cannot now compete with foreign merchant vessels; ship subsidizing is not only for private profits but for the public welfare; in time of war American merchant ships could be used by the government; railroads and other industries practically have been subsidized from time to time to promote their development; many other nations subsidize. Negative: The theory of a permanent system of subsidizing is contrary to the principles of a democratic government; in subsidizing all people are taxed for the benefit of a particular class; if one industry receives a bounty all others are entitled to the same; England and Germany do not subsidize and France has had much trouble with the subsidizing plan; commerce would not be increased; we now have all the requisites for ship building without subsidies and this is now a prosperous industry in our country. The decision was given to the negative side in the prepared debate.

A committee of three was appointed to draw up resolutions of condolence in the event of the sudden death of Frank P. White, who was one of the charter members of the Philologist society.

After several items of new business the remarks of the censor closed the program for the evening.

Indoor Baseball.

A game of indoor baseball was announced for Saturday afternoon in the Gymnasium, ex-High School vs. University. Not enough of the former being present, some of the positions were filled by others. The game was called about 3:45; positions and score as follows:

Umpires—Tout and Penland.

The members of the cabinets of the U. O. Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. were royally entertained at the Craig House Saturday evening.

Frank P. White Died Suddenly in Baker County.

The many friends of Frank White were pained to learn of his sudden death at Express last Wednesday morning. He had formerly been principal of the high school at Sumpter but left that place to take charge of the public school at Express on January 6. He was raised in Lane County, having lived about Eugene and Cottage Grove all his life. Mr. White graduated from the University with the class of '98, and remained for a time in Eugene, taking special work in chemistry. Later he opened an assay office at Cottage Grove, but last summer went to Baker county where, as stated above, he was principal of the Sumpter high school for a time.

Besides his mother, the deceased leaves three sisters, Mrs. Lottie Hunt of Bohemia, Miss Marion White of Cottage Grove, Miss Bertha White of Eugene; and one brother, William J. White of Portland. The body was shipped to Cottage Grove for burial.

Mr. White was popular among the students, having taken a full six years' course at the University. He was a member of the Christian church, and was liked by all, leading an exemplary student life. He will be sorely missed by his many friends.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

A larger number of men attended the devotional meeting last Friday night than at any previous meeting since the one conducted by Mr. Hutchinson at the opening of the school year. C. H. Davis and T. L. Williams, U. O.'s delegates to the Pacific Grove Students' Conference, gave interesting reports of that great meeting. Mr. Davis emphasized the need of a more careful study of the Bible and diligent observance of the morning watch for our own association members. He also expressed the need of maintaining a general secretary at the University of Oregon. Mr. Williams spoke specially of the Bible study and mission work of the conference. There is a constantly growing demand for young men who are willing to devote their lives to Christian work in the foreign fields.

It is to be regretted that not more of our students could have attended the meeting at Pacific Grove, but all who heard Mr. Davis and Mr. Williams must have felt a new interest, and as a result the work has been given a new impetus and much more ought to be accomplished during the remainder of the year.

Wright for Football Manager.

At a meeting of the Athletic Board on Friday last, Elmer Wright was chosen manager for next year's football team. Wright is registered from Union county and is a graduate of the Union high school. He entered the University in 1900, is a member of the '04 class, and is taking a course in mining engineering.

A local organization of the Inter-collegiate Prohibition Association has been effected. An article explanatory with fuller details is unavoidably omitted this week, but will appear in next issue.

TREBLE CLEF CLUB.

The Annual Concert Promises to be a Good One.

The Annual concert of the Treble Clef Club has been postponed and will be given Friday evening, Jan. 24.

The club is practicing daily on a good and varied list of members. Eugene people may expect a good concert. The balance and blending of voices at present is better than it has been at any time before and the selections have been chosen with a view toward combining really good music with what pleases the usual audience. In addition to the chorus numbers there will be some solo work and special numbers.

In consideration of the number of voices to choose from and the time that the members have been able to give to practice the coming annual concert ought to prove the best yet given by the Treble Clef Club. Next week the program and list of members of the club will be published.

Mr. Arthur Frazier.

The Oregonian of December 22, in writing of the opening concert of the symphony season, in which Arthur Louis Frazier, of the Department of Music of the University of Oregon, made his debut as concert pianist, said, in part, concerning him:

Of Mr. Frazier's work in the concerto, one can hardly speak too highly. His appearance is that of a more boy, hardly into his 20s. He had never played with an orchestra before, yet there was a reassuring calmness in his bearing that piqued curiosity. A blase virtuoso of 40 seasons on the concert stage could hardly have been more at his ease. He played quietly, with a simplicity that never for a moment dropped into sentimentality. The impression conveyed to the audience was of Beethoven young, unworn by sorrow, butte, almost gay, yet not without that undertone of seriousness that one always finds in him even when at play. * * * He was at his best in the last movement, in those passages in which the element of surprise is introduced; to these he gave a sparkling piquancy and grace that could not fail to delight. * * *

Laurean.

The Laurean society held its regular meeting on Friday evening. Much of the time was given up to the discussion on methods of arousing interest in debating and literary work. A committee was appointed to rewrite constitution of society, including amendments that have been made in the past. The question chosen for next Friday evening is, Resolved, That the Ship Subsidy Bill, as proposed, is to the best interests of the United States. The affirmative will be supported by Merritt and Dillard, while the negative will be upheld by Howe and Johnson. Prepared address will be given by M. M. Scarborough.

Chemical Seminar.

The Chemical Seminar met Monday night, January 6th. Mr. Grider presented the subject, "Standards for Acid Solutions." Several methods were discussed and their advantages noted. Dr. Lachman reviewed the "Periodic System" with especial reference to Tellurium, which does not seem to fit in the place assigned it. The chemistry of Tellurium, however, has been reviewed and its atomic weight verified.
