NOTES

J. O. Russell, '04, is again in school.
Up to Saturday evening, registration at the University was 193.
Ralph Bacon, associate editor on the Weekly, reached Eugene last Friday.
A crowd of six University students made a trip to Spencer Butte last Saturday.
Elvin Crawford arrived in Eugene last Monday. He intends to re-enter the University.
"Judge" Hale, '04, arrived last Thursday and was seen on the football field soon after.
At the Student Body meeting set for Monday morning it was impossible to secure a quorum.
A. F. Hemenway, '02, was on the campus last week. He will take a post-graduate course at the University.
Ray Goodrich, '04, is coaching the Eugene High School team. The prospects for a strong eleven are flattering.
Clyde Payne, '04, will probably not return to school this year. We will lose one of the best athletes the University has developed.

V. W. Tomlinson, '05, associate editor of the Weekly, arrived from Woodburn yesterday. His summer was spent in soliciting insurance.

C. N. McArthur, '01, was in Eugene for a few days. He left for Portland last Tuesday. Mr. McArthur is athletic editor of the Oregonian.

Fred Stockton, '03, has been employed in the county surveyor's office during the summer. He is still very busy and will probably enter the University at a later date.

Holt Stockton, business manager of the Weekly, has left school temporarily. He had to attend to some business at home and will return to the University in two or three weeks.

The joint reception by the literary societies scheduled for last Friday has been postponed for one week on account of the reception given by Hon. and Mrs. S. H. Friendly in honor of President Campbell.

Earl Abbet, ex-'03, is again in school. His old friends welcome him back into their midst. During his absence from school Mr. Abbet has been in the employ of the railroad company at Spokane, Washington. He is an old glee club man.

J. J. Handsaker, ex-'02, arrived in Eugene last Tuesday. During his absence Mr. Handsaker has been studying at Drake University. His summer was spent with a surveying party on the Columbia. He will enter the University as a Senior.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC RECITAL

Saturday evening witnessed the initial event of the musical season of the University, a recital by Miss Eva I. Stinson, of the newly reorganized department of music. Her program, admirably arranged, met with the continuous favor of the large audience present, until, after the final number, an imperative recall and demand for an encore gave unmistakable evidence that Miss Stinson had gained the undivided sympathy of her hearers. The admirable technic of her clear, full soprano was well displayed in the Polinaise of Thomas, while in the group of songs of the more popular order a refreshing versatility of temperament was evinced that exalted each to the rank of a separate number. The very artistic accompaniment by Mr. Frazer corresponded well with the tone and spirit of the selections and the style of the soloist.

Mrs. Hollenbeck, who assisted as pianist, won an enthusiastic encore on the ever popular March Militaire, Schubert-Tansig. The Adagio and Allegretto from Beethoven were, perhaps, best received and merited the unstinted praise accorded them.

This initial concert augurs well for the success of our new school of music, and guarantees that much is in store for the musical circles of the University.

SENIORS ELECT OFFICERS

The Senior class held their first meeting in Villard Hall last Monday at 11:50. The election of officers was the first matter of importance to be taken up, and resulted in the choice of the following:

President, F. G. Thayer.
Vice President, Ruby Hendricks.
Secretary, Gene Crawford.
Treasurer, Elma Hendricks.
Editor, Homer I. Watts.
Sergeant at Arms, Herbert J. Campbell.
Some plans touching the disposition of the remaining copies of the '03 Webfoot were discussed and voted on.

The class voted to adopt caps and gowns as their costume and a committee consisting of Ruby Hendricks, Stella Armitage and C. V. Ross was appointed with full power to deal with the cap and gown question.
