of the fellows were deprived of sleep that night after the show. You see it was like this. They gave us a reception which ended something like a protracted revival. That of course consumed time. As the train was scheduled for 2 a. m. most of the fellows decided to sit around the hotel lobby and wait. Well they waited until 8 a. m. before the train came. See Lewis for views of the bunch doing stunts in that good old game "jump for downs." We will state also that he has various other views, among which is a fine picture of "The Little Willies."

It was a tired crowd that landed in Eugene Sunday, the 22nd, but all with one opinion, the trip had been a success.

After a couple of weeks of rest, the majority of met in Portland at the Oregon to practice for the concert there. Beck was delayed in The Dalles in behalf of his peach interests. Bert Prescott was sick and Mike Gross was tied up in Eugene on account of floods. The way we went after them in Portland, though, wasn't slow. See Oregonian of January 4, Journal and Telegram of January 5.

Representatives from various colleges gathered in the Oregon grill after the show and sang college songs until ejected by the waiters.

Portland is coming our way all right. It seems to us that the management should be sure of the concert in Portland Thanksgiving night. With the game in the afternoon and the concert at night we can have things all our way in future years, thus preventing the exodus of students to California and the East. The lemon yellow suits us.

The course, covering four years, begins the last week in October and continues to June. A preliminary training in natural science is of great advantage. All the classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside work.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations. The successful completion of the first year in any college or university recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised. The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.
