CARL McClAIN AT Y. M. C. A.

Gives Very Interesting Talk to Men on "Service" last Saturday Evening.

"Service" was the theme of Carl McClain at Y. M. C. A. last Friday evening. Mr. McClain based his remarks upon James 2:14. He said in part:

"I like the expression of Secretary Stone that every man has a life to invest. A man will exercise great care in investing money where it will yield the largest returns and at the same time be safe. He will not let it lie idle in a bank, earning nothing, no more will he put it into a wild-cat scheme which promises forty per cent profit but is unsafe.

"The question in investing our lives is the same: how can we invest them that they may yield most and yet be safe. The way to life is death. Clay Shepard used to say; 'I have been let to burn.'

"There are many college activities. One must choose some of them. No one can take all. Our major, so to speak, should be Christian service. To influence one life rightly is worth more than any student-body honor. One life rightly invested may touch others indefinitely and 'bring forth an hundred fold'.

"We are not just preparing for life. We are in the midst of life now, and life is earnest. It is not always the one that does the big things that does the most. Do we know who first domesticated animals, or who first named truth or patriotism or home?

"Service need not be great. A cup of cold water given in His name is not unrewarded. If we make every moment of every day count in service to Christ we have not lived in vain."

Eutaxian.

The meeting last Friday of the Eutaxian Society was very short on account of the non-appearance of several of the members on the program. But the program that was given consisted of a reading by Ruth Balderee and an essay by Mary Foshay. So far no program has been announced for the next meeting.
