

SOME INTERESTING LOCALS

Gathered by an Associate Editor for The Women's Edition of the Weekly

Dr. Herbert Johnson left his home in Boston last Monday for Eugene. He will deliver the baccalaureate sermon and attend the commencement exercises. He is accompanied by his brother Wistar, of the class of 1907, who is coming home to spend the summer before leaving for Oxford in September.

The Y. M. C. A. held their last meeting on Friday evening. It was conducted by Pres. Ethan Collier. Plans for summer work and for next year were discussed. No senior meeting will be held this year.

The K. O. R. T. Boy's club arranged a pleasant party for their leader on Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served by the hosts Professor Dunn entertained informally some of the members of his Latin classes at his home Wednesday evening after the rally. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

Carl Gabrielson and Ursel Kay and Lloyd Farmer of Salem were guests of the Delta Alpha fraternity this last week.

Fourteen members of the Y. M. C. A. among whom are Rounds, Collier, Steele, Williams, Scullen, Riddell, Mayer, Dalzell, Downing, Devereaux, Marsters, Professor Terrill, Professor Bovard and Dr. Leonard leave Friday for the Breakers to attend the annual Y. M. C. A. conference of the Northwest.

Definite arrangements are now being made for the revival of the Flower and Fern procession to take place during commencement.

Mabel Simington of Astoria has been visiting her sister during the week at the Beta Epsilon house.

Arle Hampton, ex-'09, is expected in Eugene soon and will remain until after commencement.

Fred Steiwer, '06, visited at the Sigma Nu house this last week.

Carl Davis, '06, now of Rush Medical College, Chicago, who has recently recovered from an attack of typhoid fever, is home to spend his vacation with his parents.

ANOTHER DORMITORY DANCE

Took Place Last Friday Evening—Guests Spend a Most Delightful Evening

Another of the charming informal Dorm Club dances took place on Friday evening. About thirty guests enjoyed the hospitality of the men of the dormitory, who maintained to the full their well deserved reputation for good entertainment. The reception room was charmingly decorated in roses and green foliage. Frozen grapejuice was served at one end of the hall in a specially constructed bower. After the dance a light lunch of strawberries and cream with sandwiches was served. This dance was the last of a series of parties given during the season by the men of the dormitory. The affairs

THESES OF SENIOR GIRLS

Twenty-two in Number—They Deal With Interesting Phases of all Departments

There are twenty-two girls in the Senior class and the majority of them have their major thesis completed. Their subjects present a wide and varied selection. The following gives the department and subject of each. In the Greek department Lena Miller, "The Preparation of the World for Christianity," and Allie Beebe, "Socrates, the Moralist," The German department has five majors: Emily Muhr, "Epic Poems of Lanan"; Clara Caulfield, "Translation of Grillparzer's 'Die Arme Spielmann'; Helene Robinson, 'Schiller's Jungfrau von Orleans as Compared with History'; Agnes Stevenson, "Translations of In St.

Jurgen by Theo. Storm," and Mabel Tiffany, "Characters in Sudermann's Johannes and their Historical Background." In Modern English Literature are Jessie Chase, "The Part Played by Death in the Women Novelists"; Bessie Kidder "Hostile Criticisms of Shakespeare"; Mary Foshay, "Sociological Interests of the English Poets from Goldsmith to Wordsworth"; and Winifred Hadley "Deaths in the Works of Charles Read." The Department of History has four majors, Louise Bryant, "The Modoc Indian War"; Mozelle Hair, "The Attitude of the Oregon People toward Slavery during the Civil war"; Irene Lincoln, "The Monopoly of the Columbia River," and Mary Scott, "The Biography of James W. Nesmith." In Biology are Elsie Davis, "Notes on some of the Leguminous Plants of Oregon"; Belle Van Duyn, "Oregon Ferns," and Lilla Irvin, "Fleshy Fungi." In the English department is Cora Cameron, "The West in American Poetry"; in the French department Edna Caulfield, "Poetry of Alfred De Vigny"; in the department of Education, Jesse Bell, "Bibliograph of the Recent Literature Concerning Latin and Latin Teaching, 1898-1908"; and in the Philosophy Department, Miriam Van Waters, "The Relation Between Materialism and Social Radicalism."

ZETA IOTA PHI SORORITY HOUSE

have been popular and have delighted all privileged to attend. Miss Irene Lincoln, '08, who has been working on her thesis in Portland, will return to be graduated at commencement time.

A. C. Gilbert of Portland, a student at Yale, has broken the world's pole vault record, raising it to 12 feet 7 3/4 in.

Y. M. C. A. dues may be paid to Earl Kilpatrick; Thomas R. Townsend, Glen Briedwell, of G. X. Riddell.

Ed Van Dyke, '01, from Grants Pass was in Eugene over Sunday on his way home from Portland.

Several of the dormitory boys have taken up work at canvassing for the summer.

The Whitman College annual "Wailaptu" has been issued.