Lacrosse.

Lacrosse, the popular Canadian sport will be introduced at the University this year.

Physical Director Hayward has ordered the sticks and other necessary equipment, which are expected to arrive within a short time. Those desiring to master the intricacies of the novel sport, will then be privileged to place themselves under the instruction of Mr. Hayward.

Miss Jessie Hurley, '09, and Miss Helen G. Kenny, '11, will return to college about the first of October.

Roy G. Applegate will not return to college until the second semester.

A schedule of dates of try-outs for debate and oratory will soon be posted on the bulletin boards. The committee on oratory and debate is looking up a suitable subject to submit for interstate debate.

At a meeting of the executive council held during the summer, the position of assistant manager of football was given to Frederick J. Whittlesey, '09. Mr. Whittlesey was chosen from among a great many aspirants for the place.

There are one hundred more copies in this edition of the Oregon Weekly than in the maximum edition of any previous year.

No meeting of the Eutaxian Society has yet been announced for the year.
The officers of the society are planning for a busy year. There has been some talk of the organization of another rival society for women, but no definite plans have been announced.

Don Stevenson, '08, is superintending the iron work on the new Y. M.
C. A. building in Portland. Walter Moore is employed on the same building.

Herbert G. Schumacher, '10, has not returned to college this year. He is planning to enter the regular army as a commissioned officer.

Frank Sullivan is teaching in the School of Trades in Portland. He has charge of the department of mathematics and architectural drawing.

J. LeRoy Woods, '09, spent his summer in Alaska.

Prof. Arthur C. Terrill, who resigned from the Oregon faculty last spring, is Professor of Metallurgy at the University of Idaho.

Dubie, the mascot bull-dog of the Delta Alphas, was lost during the summer.
